HC RAPS PMO FOR ONE-PAGE REPLY ON PM-CARES FUND

The Delhi High Court on Tuesday took strong exception to the Centre's short reply and directed it to file a detailed one

ASKS GOVT TO FILE EXTENSIVE REPLY IN 4 WEEKS

Observing that the issue concerning the Prime Minister's Citizen Assistance and Relief in Emergency Situations Fund is "not so simple" the high court directed the Centre to file an extensive reply within four weeks. The bench was hearing a petition seeking a court order to declare it as a 'State' under the Constitution to ensure transparency

MATTER LIKELY TO REACH SUPREME COURT

- Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told the bench of Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Subramonium Prasad that a detailed reply was already filed in a similar petition
- The bench said the matter "will certainly travel to the apex court" so all aspects have to be dealt with before giving an order

Fierce or not? House emblem triggers debate

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

DO the lions in the Lion Capital atop the new Parliament building look ferocious compared to the original conceived by Emperor Ashoka? Activists and Opposition politicians feel they do while the government claims it's a replica of the one at Sarnath in Uttar Pradesh and the anger seen on the face of the lions is because of its scaling and angle of visibility.

"Modi Ji, please observe the face of the Lion, whether it is representing the statue of Great Sarnath or a distorted version of GIR lion. Please check it and if it needs, mend the same," tweeted Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, Leader of the Congress in the Lok Sabha.

TMC leader Mahua Moitra tweetied the old and new pictures to show the contrast.

"This is Modi's new India!" tweeted noted lawyer Prashant Bhushan who also shared the old and new emblems.

Clarifying the reason for the change in lions' expression, Union minister Hardeep Puri tweeted, "The original #Sarnath #Emblem is 1.6 mtr high whereas the emblem on the top of the #NewParliamentBuilding is huge at 6.5 mtrs height." He added, "If one looks at the Sarnath emblem from below it would look as calm or angry as the one being discussed."

This is the second controversy involving the emblem. On Monday, the Opposition had questioned the constitutional propriety of PM Modi's unveiling it with Hindu rituals.

The Centre says the original Lion Capital placed at Sarnath, UP is at ground level while the new emblem is at a height of 33 m from the ground, hence the difference in appearance

67 Israeli drones on deal street

CHANDAN NANDY @ New Delhi

THE Pegasus spyware controversy notwithstanding, an Israeli state-owned defence company is close to winning an Indian Ministry of Defence contract to supply 67 surveillance drones to the Army that will likely be deployed along the Indo-Pak border and parts of the Line of Control (LoC).

According to sources, Israeli Aerospace Industries may clinch the $3 billion deal despite competition from a US-based company. Sources said the drones will have all-terrain capability and can fly above an altitude of 500m, making them suitable for operations along the Indo-Pak border. The tender for the 67 rotary wing drones was floated in early April, 2022 and closed on May 2.

The Israeli drones are said to have cleared the aural signature, high temperature and damp tests. According to the contract, the drones will be manufactured in India. Rotary winged drones operate like helicopters, giving them vertical take-off, landing and hovering capabilities. The UAVs' normal cruise speed is 10 metres per second. However, its most crucial feature is the surveillance day and night camera, which has an operational endurance of "not less than 45 minutes" and can take photographs and record video clips at temperatures ranging between -5 degrees and 55 degrees Celsius. Besides, they can transmit videos in realtime. The cameras' 'target detection slant range' — the line of sight distance between the camera and the object — is a minimum of 2 km in day time and 1 km at night.

84 K'taka prisoners to walk free under spl remission

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

THE 75th anniversary of Indian Independence this year will see thousands of jail inmates walk to freedom on August 15. Karnataka too is doing its bit in joining the 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav' being celebrated by the Central government across the country. The state has nearly 100 prisons which include central, district, open and taluk-level jails where more than 15,000 inmates are housed.

Of them, around 10,000 inmates are undertrials. The state-level screening committee in home department decides on reducing prisoners' jail terms and recommends it to the state cabinet from where it goes to the Governor for final approval. In the first phase, the state prisons department has identified 84 inmates, not serving life imprisonment, who will be set free.

The Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has directed all state governments to remit sentences of prisoners meeting certain criteria in their respective states. Speaking to The New Indian Express, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said that the 84 inmates who have been identified including four women inmates, fall under the criteria set by the MHA. Of the 84, 81 inmates have completed two-thirds of their term. "We will finalise the names and the list within the next 15 days" he said.

These inmates will be released on August 15, 2022. In the second and the third phases, more prisoners will be released on January 26, 2023 and August 15, 2023. P4

India rejected Gota request for a safe getaway?

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

WITH the Sri Lankan Presidential Palace under occupation by angry protesters since Saturday, President Gotabaya Rajapaksa had sought time till Wednesday (July 13) to resign. It now appears he may have set the timeline so as to plan his safe getaway by then.

Gotabaya is weighing all options for fleeing. Since he surrendered his American citizenship in 2019, finding a safe passage back to the US is proving to be difficult, though reports suggest he applied for a US visa recently.

CNN reported that he sought to take a flight to Dubai on Monday. But the immigration staff didn't facilitate his boarding through the 'silk route' — a fast track route for VIPs.

His brother Basil, too, attempted to flee to Washington via Dubai from Colombo through the silk route and had six boarding cards for an Emirates flight. The silk route has since been put on hold to prevent politicians from fleeing.

According to sources in Sri Lanka, Gotabaya even sought India's support in facilitating his exit. He was looking at taking a Sri Lankan Air Force AN 32 or a commercial flight to land into India.

"When India nipped their proposal to land on a Sri Lankan Air Force aircraft, another one was made through a commercial airline. The plan was to board a Sri Lankan Airways (UL-229 CMB-KWI) aircraft. After being airborne, this aircraft would be diverted in the garb of a 'technical stop' at Cochin airport, where Gotabaya and his entourage would be allowed to disembark and leave. Permission was needed from India as most members of his team did not have Indian visas. However, India refused to be part of the plan," said sources in Colombo.

It wasn't clear where Gotabaya was headed but the call sign of the aircraft he was planning to board (via a diversion in Cochin) was for a Colombo-Kuwait flight. For its part, the Ministry of External Affairs refused comment.

Meanwhile, a petition has been filed in the Sri Lankan Supreme Court seeking travel restrictions on the Rajapakas and other biggies to prevent them from leaving the country. P12

Rain claims two lives in Haliyal; Bommai says no dearth of funds for relief works

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Karwar/Mysuru

HEAVY rainfall in Uttara Kannada district claimed two lives at Murukwada village in Haliyal taluk where a woman and her daughter died after a wall of their house collapsed on Tuesday morning. The deceased, Rukmini (37) and her daughter Sridevi (13), were sleeping near the wall when it collapsed on them.

Deputy Superintendent of Police (DySP) in Dandeli Ganesh, told TNIE, "It was a family of five members. The mother and daughter were sleeping near the wall and the son and father were in another corner. The mother-in-law was also sleeping at a distance when the incident occurred." This is the second incident in the taluk which has claimed human life. Last week, a 40-year-old man was washed away in a lake near Haliyal.

Meanwhile, CM Basavaraj Bommai, who is on a two-day visit to rain-affected districts, said in Mysuru there is no dearth of funds as the state government has Rs 750 crore under the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF). He also said the government will hold a meeting with officials on seeking funds from the Centre for rain-relief works. A report on loss of lives, landslides, damage to roads, collapse of houses and other rain-related incidents will be submitted to the Centre, he said. P5

PREZ POLL

Mr Ballot Box is ready to fly, gets front seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IF you find a 'box' travelling on a passenger seat in your next air travel, don't be surprised. It could be 'Mr Ballot Box'. It's an actual ballot box, not a quirky traveller with a weird name!

The Election Commission has booked a 'Mr Ballot Box' in flights on Tuesday and Wednesday to send the vote container to different states for the July 18 Presidential polls. A separate air ticket is booked in the name of 'Mr ballot Box' as it travels on the front row of the aircraft. Seated alongside 'Mr Ballot Box' will be the assistant returning officers. The box travels under the personal supervision of the officer.

"The presidential elections involve a fascinating journey of the ballot box to states/Union territories and return after polling," said the poll panel.

According to officials, the EC had got this special right in 1969 from the civil aviation ministry for the ballot box and other election material to travel as a passenger.

After air travel, 'Mr ballot Box' will be stored in strong rooms under strict videography. After the poll is over, the polled and sealed 'Mr Ballot Box' and other election material will be transported back to the Office of Returning Officer Rajya Sabha Secretariat by the next available flight.

The boxes and other documents are carried personally in the aircraft cabins — never out of sight of accompanying officers, the Commission added.

Once they reach Delhi, officials are assisted at the help desk at the Delhi Airport, manned by the officials of the Election Commission of India, Civil Aviation, Delhi Police, and CISF.

MPs will cast their ballots in the Parliament House.

Idgah Maidan for all: Chamarajpet traders shut shop

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HUNDREDS of shops in and around the Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan remained shut during Chamarajpet bandh while more than 15 activists were taken into preventive custody following sloganeering at the contentious Maidan.

While residents and traders showed complete cooperation to make the bandh, called by Hindu outfits, successful, the Mandipet Traders Association abstained from participating in the bandh and instead supported the MLA.

The Chamarajapete Okkoota Samithi, Vishwa Sanatha Parishad, Srirama Sene and other pro-Hindu outfits had called for a day-long bandh alleging that local MLA BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan has used his position and prevented public from using the playground for other communities.

"Our agitation was only pertaining to the land and civil dispute, but the MLA and his followers have made it look like a communal issue. Demanding that others also should get a chance to use the ground, we had called a bandh," said S Bhaskaran, president, Vishwa Sanatha Parishad.

As the crowd swelled, members of Srirama Sene stormed the ground, shouting slogans. Anticipating worsening of the law and order situation, the police took them into custody. Bengaluru unit's Srirama Sene heads Chandarshekar and Amarnath are among those arrested but were released later.

While residents and traders in and around Chamarajpete area expressed displeasure against the local MLA for poor handling of the controversy over Idgah land and alleged that he was favouring a particular community, Mandipete Traders Association sided with the MLA. "Only a few shops were shut in and around Idgah by force, they (hindu outfits) also asked us to shut shops but we did not bow. We live here peacefully and I credit this to MLA Khan," said Dinesh, president, Mandipet Traders Association.

TEXTBOOK REVISION

One booklet per school, copies for students

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

ONLY one booklet, with re-revised portions of textbooks of different classes, will be issued to each school in the State. While printing of the booklet is yet to begin, it should be completed and circulated to schools in 15 days, sources at the Karnataka Textbook Society said.

This means that children will be given photocopies of revisions in their textbooks.

Minister for School Education and Literacy B C Nagesh defended the distribution of one booklet for each school. "This system is followed whenever there is re-revision. Only eight corrections were approved, so teachers will ask students to include the particular lines or missing words. When printing of textbooks is taken up for the next academic year, the corrections will be included," he said.

Officials said the soft copy of the booklet will be made available to teachers, and on the Textbook Society website. The soft copy or photocopy of the re-revised portion can also be circulated among students, they said.

A government schoolteacher, who did not want to be named, said, "In government schools, 'Kalika Chetharike: learning recovery programme' (to cope with Covid learning gap) is on. Learning sheets and teachers' handbooks are being used from Class 1 to 9."

Delay in printing of textbooks, or re-revision, has not affected government schools much. Kalika Chetharike materials, which were delayed, were managed with photocopies. After 15 days of foundation programmes, regular lessons for SSLC have begun, and children have got all textbooks, but nothing is re-revised in Class 10 books. In private schools, due to delay in availability of textbooks, photocopies/xerox copies of booklets are being circulated, they said.

Textbook tracker

Nearly two months since schools began, 96.5 per cent of textbooks are printed, and 92.02 per cent books have reached schools. The remaining textbooks are expected to reach all schools in a month, officials said.

Imposing language violates SC order: Schools

BENGALURU: The Associated Managements of Primary and Secondary Schools in Karnataka (KAMS) has submitted a memorandum to CM Basavaraj Bommai, objecting to the recommendations of the state in the NEP position paper on language education -- they include the mother tongue or regional language as medium of education at the primary level. KAMS general secretary Shashikumar D said that considering Articles 350-A, 19-1(a), 19-1(g), 19(2), 21, 21-A and others, the Supreme Court has held that right to freedom of speech and expression under Article 19(1)a of the Constitution includes the freedom of a child to be educated at the primary level in a language of choice, and the State cannot impose it, he said. He added the recommendation would be in violation of the SC verdict.

Only recommendations, says BC Nagesh

On the State's NEP position paper to NCERT, Minister for School Education B C Nagesh said, "We have only recommended inclusion of several concepts invented by Indian experts much before the westerners did. We have not asked them to remove information on experts from other countries. Regarding language, we have only recommended that mother tongue be included as first language, and second and third language can be of students' choice."

BENGALURU: The Bengaluru Postal Region will make doorstep delivery of idli and dosa batter and instant cook and eat products. The first batch of batter packets was delivered at a few homes in the city on Monday. Speaking to TNIE, Chief Postmaster General, Karnataka Circle S Rajendra Kumar said that the product delivery from the popular Hallimane group has begun on a pilot basis across Bengaluru. "A total of 22 parcels comprising batter and different instant mixes were booked on Monday. We are presently booking them as business parcels. The delivery has been assured on the same day, " he said. Although the regular delivery staff would do the job for now, a dedicated team could be set up in future as per public demand, he said. "Unlike the food delivery apps, our department would only supply the ingredients," he said.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Tuesday held a meeting in South Zone and instructed officials to ensure they are available in the office between 3 pm and 5 pm to take note of the issues in the area and resolve them. Addressing public grievances, he advised joint commissioners to install name plates on the office premises and mention the timing of their availability. The officials must identify the vendors encroaching footpaths and take action.

Officials should take stern action against buildings constructed without a license, he said after learning of instances of illegal constructions around Padmanabhanagar and Koramangala. The residents complained that the public and street vendors throw garbage in Wilson Garden to which Girinath said that officers should immediately take action.

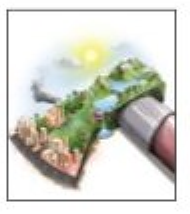
From biomass to hydrogen, IISc spearheads technology

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

INDIAN Institute for Science, Bengaluru researchers have developed a new technology to produce hydrogen from biomass, which is a renewable energy source.

It is a two-step process. In the first step, biomass is converted into syngas – a hydrogen-rich fuel gas mixture – in a novel reactor using oxygen and steam. In the second, pure hydrogen is generated from syngas using an indigenously developed low-pressure gas separation unit.

S Dasappa, Professor at Centre for Sustainable Technologies, and Chair of the Interdisciplinary Centre for Energy Research, IISc said that the hydrogen mostly comes from fossil fuels synthesised by steam methane reforming route.



The process produces 100 g of hydrogen from a kg of biomass even though only 60 g of hydrogen is present in a kg of biomass. This is because in this process, steam, which also contains hydrogen, participates in both homogeneous and heterogeneous reactions, Dasappa said. The production is carbon negative.

The technology also dovetails with the National Hydrogen Energy Roadmap, an initiative of the central government that aims to promote the use of hydrogen as a fuel, he added. Green hydrogen can be used in steel to decarbonise steel.

PETER VIDAL

13TH July : I want to talk more about Aquarius, my sign of the moment. If you are born under this sign then you have a great deal to offer in terms of stability and preserving the best from the past. This Aquarian quality is little understood but none the less true for that, and can be of benefit to everyone else, including friends, family and colleagues.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Your attitudes and opinions have to alter. Probably what's needed now is a period of self-questioning. Even a momentary lapse of confidence over the next month or so could prove useful if it saves you from a rash move. It may seem strange to say it, but a rejection could also make space for a future offer.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Feelings of guilt or self-doubt may relate to the fact that you've let someone down. Yet at times like these you must always think whether you could have behaved in a different manner. If there was no real alternative, you know you have not done wrong.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
There are times when we all must come forward and take control. Today is your moment to shine, so don't evade your responsibilities. Remember that emotional power carries with it obligations to those who are relying on you: you can't let other people down without storing up problems for yourself.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
There are two major options today. Either you will be shelling out on some worthy charitable cause, or you will be the lucky recipient of a discreet show of generosity. In each case the regions of your chart ruling money, selflessness and generosity are linked.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Perhaps the most difficult thing for you to accept at the moment is that other people may be right. May I ask you to remember over the next three months that in this imperfect world of ours the truth is always relative. All points of view may therefore be equally valid.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Harmonious professional relationships are now crucial, so whatever the changes or disturbances taking place on the work front at the moment, it is safe to forecast they will all have a very favourable outcome - even if you have to wait longer than you expected.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
What took place recently may have reminded you of just how good life is. Actually, from the spiritual point of view it is always useful to be reminded of our place in the scheme of things, so count yourself lucky! A loyal partner deserves your thanks, by the way.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
A little judicious spending will go a very long way towards solving a couple of knotty problems. If you want to get ahead at work, for example, investment in a new image may pay dividends. And if you want to win support at home, a well-targeted gift could do the trick.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The reason why some partners or business associates are so charming may be difficult to fathom. Why not just put it down to the fact that Venus, planet of polite behaviour and gracious manners, is making a powerful aspect to your sign? Good old-fashioned etiquette may be best.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
If you are to make sense of your worldly ambitions then you must get back into the mainstream and start again. However, within about four days you will realise that a period of contemplation is not only desirable, but is essential. The answers to your questions may lie within.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by going in for a bout of sheer self-indulgence. It really doesn't matter whether your pleasures are sober and serious or utterly frivolous. All that matters is that you set out to enjoy yourself.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
No-one can accuse you of being a dispassionate observer. Indeed, I'd say it's one of your strengths that you get so intimately involved in other people's problems. One of the best things you can do now is cheer partners up with your sunny disposition.

HM talks tough on irregularities in prisons

Araga pays surprise visit to Central Prison in city, says advanced mobile phone signal jammers will be installed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister Araga Jnanendra has warned that no illegal activities would be tolerated inside prisons and strict legal action will be initiated against those found indulging in illegal activities.

Following complaints of alleged irregularities at the Bengaluru Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara, Jnanendra paid a surprise visit to the prison, on Tuesday. He inspected a few barracks and interacted with the staff and jail inmates, including women and heard about the problems. He took details from the officials about the security system in place and medical facilities offered to the prisoners.

Speaking to reporters later, Jnanendra said he has warned the officials that no illegal activities will be tolerated inside the prison and officials will be held responsible for the same.

"They have been warned of strict action if any inmate is found to be receiving preferential treatment or smuggling of contraband such as drugs and mobile phones are found".

"Recently, an accused had entered the prison with a bandage on his leg, concealing a mobile phone. Two police staff have been arrested in this connection. The issue of prison staff demanding money from the family members of inmates who come for the interview was also discussed," he said.

Reacting to a question on the alleged usage of mobile phones by the accused arrested in the murder case of Hindu activist Harsha, he said a serious probe into the matter is being conducted and one has been arrested in that connection.

Based on the recommendation of a committee headed by ADGP Murugan, several prison staff has been transferred while a few others have been suspended, he added. "It has been decided to install advanced mobile phone signal jammers. We will procure jammers that can jam even 5G signals," Jnanendra said.

Human life not maths, says HC, enhances aid for minor to ₹21.86L

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday enhanced compensation to Rs 21.86 lakh, from Rs 4.41 lakh awarded by the Motor Accidents Claim Tribunal to a minor girl from Belagavi, for disability due to injuries she suffered in an accident when she was seven years old. "Since the claimant is a minor female child of seven years at the time of the accident, it is rather difficult to anticipate how much she would have earned once she attained the age of earning. This depends on various imponderables like her education, enterprise, attitude and general approach to life," the court observed, while enhancing the compensation.

Partly allowing the appeal filed by the girl seeking enhancement of compensation, Justice P Krishna Bhat turned down the contention of the counsel of The New India Assurance Company Limited, that it would be unjust and inappropriate to fix functional disability at 100%. "In my considered opinion, accepting such a contention would reduce the approach of viewing a human being to that of a machine... Unfortunately, human life is not mathematics. It is something more complex. Stark reality is that for a person who has lost the proper use of some essential limbs in terms of their utility for earning purpose, it is over simplistic to say that he/she can earn some income by resorting to limb-wise arithmetic," Justice Bhat said.

On October 24, 2006, the girl was walking by the side of the road when a goods vehicle being driven in a rash manner rammed her and dragged her for 20ft, causing grievous injuries. The Tribunal awarded only Rs 4.41 lakh, so she moved the HC. The court observed that the evidence and medical records are very bleak about her future prospects. "The human body cannot be treated like an assemblage of its constituent parts. In other words, if medical evidence is clinching on the aspect that minor child cannot straighten one of her lower limbs and one of her upper limbs and has lost its use, it is as good as the human body becoming useless, so far as the person's ability to work and earn a livelihood is concerned," the court added.

Rape, blackmail and murder: Couple kills gutkha seller, 3 in net

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SEDATING and raping a 23-year-old married woman proved dear for a gutkha seller in Whitefield police division, after the former and her husband killed him, wrapped his body in a cement bag and threw it near a dustbin.

The wife of the deceased, said to be of unsound mind, was arrested for witnessing the murder and not revealing it to police. The accused couple and victim's family are from North India.

The body of Omnath Singh, 48, a native of Bihar, was found on July 5 near a dustbin in Belathur, in Kadugodi police station limits. The accused had strangled the victim to death with a veil. He used to supply gutkha to roadside shops.

The accused are identified as Vishal Prajapathi, 24, and his wife, both from Uttar Pradesh. The families of the accused and victims were neighbours in Belathur. The murder happened in Singh's house, following a scuffle. Singh's wife Gunja Devi, 35, was also arrested. From the murder spot, Prajapathi had shifted the body into a gunny bag and thrown it near a dustbin.

"Singh had sedated Prajapathi's wife and raped her. He recorded the act and kept blackmailing her, and used the video to repeatedly rape her. The rape survivor did not file a complaint but later told her husband. The couple then hatched a plot to kill him. They were caught in Mangaluru," said an officer who is part of investigations.

Prajapathi had taken a loan of Rs 6 lakh from Singh. The two had fought over this issue as there was a delay in returning the money.

Kadugodi police registered a case and are investigating.

HC asks officer to upload report on BMRCL compensatory plantation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday directed the BBMP Tree Officer to upload the quarterly report submitted by Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) with regard to compensatory plantation and translocation of trees, on its website.

A division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice JM Khazi passed the order after senior counsel of BMRCL submitted that the quarterly reports have already been submitted to the Tree Officer and only have to be uploaded on the website.

Meanwhile, the counsel also submitted that liberty be granted to BMRCL to implement the order dated June 10, 2022, passed by the Tree Officer, for removal of 14 trees for construction of the Metro Rail line between Silk Board signal and Kadubeesanahalli Junction.

Permitted to implement the order, the court directed the panel of experts of University of Agricultural Sciences, Bengaluru, to submit a report with regard to compensatory afforestation within a period of four weeks. Mentioning the permission granted to Karnataka Road Development Corporation Limited to fell trees, the court directed the Corporation to implement the report submitted by the expert panel recommending compensatory plantation, within six weeks.

KENGERI CASE: JCB DRIVER KILLED WIFE, BURNT BODY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

POLICE have identified the burnt body of a woman, found in a field on July 3, near NICE Corridor bridge in Kengeri. The woman's husband and his accomplice were arrested for killing her and burning the body.

The deceased was identified as Nageena Khanum, a resident of Sun City near Kengeri Satellite Town. Her husband, Mohammed Manjoor Ahmed Anagi, 29, allegedly killed her, suspecting her fidelity.

The two suspects are Anagi, a native of Yadgir and a JCB driver, and Prajwal, 21, of Doddaballapura. Anagi is Khanum's second husband, and vice-versa. The couple would have regular quarrels, police said.

"On July 2, Anagi took his associate to an isolated area near NICE bridge. He then called his wife, stating that he was unable to walk as he was under the influence of alcohol. After Khanum reached, the accused attacked her with an iron rod and killed her. Then they poured petrol on her body, and set her ablaze. After the murder, Anagi fled to Vijayapura, and shaved his head and beard to conceal his identity," said an officer who is part of investigations.

Five teams were formed to probe the case. Pictures of the victim were shown to informants, who managed to identify her. Police then approached her parents who suspected the involvement of their son-in-law. Anagi, who had taken away his wife's mobile phone, would switch it on and off, which was enough for police to track his whereabouts.

Kengeri police registered a case and are investigating.

First unit at Koppal Toy Cluster begins operations

The cluster is likely to attract investments of $500 million in 10 years

MG CHETAN @ Bengaluru

THE production process at India's first-of-its-kind toy manufacturing ecosystem, Koppal Toy Cluster (KTC), was set in motion with the first unit in the cluster beginning its operations on Tuesday. Four other units are expected to be operational by early August at this global-scale toy manufacturing cluster.

The cluster located in the Special Economic Zone (SEZ) developed by the Aequs Infra, a group company of Aequs Pvt Ltd, is spread across 400 acres, where manufacturer and exporter of custom rubber moulded products, Viscon Polymers Pvt Ltd, resumed its manufacturing operations on Tuesday. Soon, three other units, including an incubation centre, a plug-and-play facility that encourages start-ups, will be operational.

The cluster, which offers end-to-end toy manufacturing across the value chain, including design and development, model making, tooling, painting, assembly and packaging, quality assurance warehousing and logistics, is expected to draw an investment of 500 million US dollars in the next 10 years. Aravind Melligeri, chairman, Aequs, told TNIE that the cluster will generate 25,000 direct and one lakh indirect employment opportunities. "Strategically located in Koppal, the district that offers human resources in abundance, the cluster will empower omen in North Karnataka, particularly Koppal. As toy manufacturing is highly manpower intensive, the cluster will provide ample job opportunities," he said.

He added that more than a dozen non-Aequs companies have expressed interest in setting up their manufacturing facilities in the zone. Once set up fully, it is expected to have over 100 companies. The SEZ and the Domestic Tariff Area (DTA) will manufacture products for export and domestic markets respectively.

"India operates at one-third the labour cost of China and half that of Vietnam, making exports out of the country very competitive. The increasing presence of global customers who wish to source products from India as a strategic initiative in addition to cost benefits and access to technology and innovation will be an added advantage," Melligeri added.

52 CHIEFS OF BOARDS, CORPORATIONS REMOVED

Actor Tara retained, ex-IAS officer Ratna Prabha goes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a major decision, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has removed 52 heads of boards and corporations, paving the way for the appointment of fresh faces to these politically important positions.

The vacancies have triggered a rush at former chief minister BS Yediyurappa's house with his supporters lobbying for posts.

Though the BJP government had been stalling a decision for various reasons, the leadership has bitten the bullet as it is crucial to make changes ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections to keep the rank and file of the party in good humour, sources said. The list could be out soon as the polls are approaching fast, and the new appointees may not have enough time to prove themselves in their responsibilities, they added.

In fact, the BJP Core Committee had prepared the list some months ago and also taken the nod of the party high command. But there could be still some tweaks in the list as the leadership has to strike a balance between the party, Yediyurappa and RSS supporters.

Among the prominent leaders who will lose their posts include former IAS officer K Ratna Prabha, chairperson of Karnataka Skills Development Authority, S Dattatri of KSSIDC, actress Shriti of Temperance Board, SN Eshwarappa of KSRTC, KP Purushottam of Sports Authority, MR Venkatesh of BMTC, Thammesh Gowda HC, chairman of Karnataka Vidyuth Kharkane Ltd, LR Mahadevaswamy, chairman of Mysuru Zoo Authority, Ananth Hegde Ashishara of Karnataka Biodiversity Board, Dr MN Nandish Hanje of Book Authority, Sunil Puranik of Chalanachitra Academy, N Shivalingaiah of CADA, Savitha Vishwanath Amar Shetty of Silk Marketing Board, Anthony Sebastian of Children's Rights Commission, Pramila Naidu R of Women's Commission and Hareesh Bantwal of KEONICS. They have completed just one-and-a-half years of their tenure.

Bajrang Dal worker assaulted

SHIVAMOGGA: A 27-year-old Bajrang Dal activist was assaulted at Rajiv Gandhi Badavane in Shivamogga on Monday night. The injured Kantharaju, who sustained injuries to his hand, has been admitted to McGann Hospital. Superintendent of Police B M Laxmi Prasad told media persons here on Tuesday that the incident occurred around 11 pm on Monday. "Five youths assaulted Kantharaju with lethal weapons. We have detained three people and searched is on for the others involved in the incident. As per the initial details that we have, the attackers were angry with him as he was involved in Bajrang Dal activities. But, we have intensified the probe," the SP added. Meanwhile, BJP leaders, including party district president TD Megharaj, visited the hospital and enquired about Kantharaju's health.

Conversions should stop to protect Bharat, says Bhagwat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chitradurga

RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat with seers of various mutts in Chitradurga on Tuesday

MEETING 21 seers of various mutts of Dalits and Backward Classes, the Sarsanghchalak, or head, of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), Mohan Bhagwat, on Tuesday urged them to prevent religious conversions that are taking place across the country. "If Bharat has to remain Bharat, such religious conversions should stop. Otherwise, they will lead to divisions in society," he said.

Addressing the seers at the Madara Channaiah Gurupeeth over Monday and Tuesday at the "by invite only" event, he said modern education has diminished our culture and there is a big burden on swamijis to impart the right culture among the youth and children.

Assuring the support of RSS in all society-building works of swamijis in the future, he said seers should transform society in their own way. "RSS believes in systematic transformation and it has to take place in a slow and steady manner. The time has come to bring all sections of society together. It can take place through constant interaction and uniting of minds," he added. Stating that untouchability and inequality are major impediments of society, he said these evils that have been prevalent for centuries have to be gotten rid of. "But it takes time to remove the stigma from the minds of the people. Till such time, the oppressed sections should be patient. The RSS is working hard at removing such social inequality. All are one under Hindu samaj," he exhorted.

Bhagwat was visiting the district on Monday and Tuesday to discuss various issues with swamijis of Dalits and Backward Classes at the Gurupeeth. The venue had turned into a virtual khaki fortress as Bhagawat is a VVIP with Z-plus security.

Apart from Basavamurthy Madara Channaiah Swamiji, Immadi Siddarameshwara Swamy of Bhovi Gurupeet, Purushothamanandapuri Swamy of Bhageeratha Gurupeet, Dr Shanthaveera Swamy of Kunchatiga Gurupeet, Basavanagideva Swamy of Chalavadi Gurupeet, Madivala Machideva Swamy, Sardar Sevalal Swamy, Basvakumaraswamy and Medara Keteshwara Swamy attended the interaction. RSS leaders Mukunda CR, Sudheer and N Thippeswamy; Pattabhiram, Guruprasad, Nandish and Vadiraj of Samarasya Vedike, Basavaraj of VHP and others took part.

MHA issues guidelines on releasing prisoners

AS per the guidelines, women and transgender convicts who are 50 years and above and who have completed 50 per cent of their sentence, male convicts of 60 years and above who have completed 50 per cent of their term, physically challenged inmates with 70 per cent disability or more and who have completed 50 per cent of their sentence, terminally-ill convicts, inmates who have completed their sentence but are still in jail due to non-payment of fine, and young inmates aged between 18 and 21 years with no criminal involvement and who have completed 50 per cent of their sentence are eligible.

Director General of Police (Prisons and Correctional Services), Alok Mohan said, "Normally every year, on Independence Day (August 15) and Republic Day (January 26), inmates serving life imprisonment for murder charges are released on the basis of their good conduct. This time, as the country is celebrating 75 years of Independence, the MHA has decided on special remission for prisoners, falling under non-life imprisonment category, to be released. Some might have done smaller offences, but serving long imprisonment. Our intention is to release convicts with good conduct and make them lead normal life".

NOT ELIGIBLE UNDER SPECIAL REMISSION

- Convict on death row and convict serving life imprisonment
- Inmates convicted for dowry deaths
- Inmates involved in terrorist activities
- Inmates convicted for counterfeiting currency notes and for money laundering
- Inmates convicted for offence of rape, human trafficking and POCSO cases
- Inmates convicted for corruption

Good governance indices to now rank districts, villages: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar greets Union MoS Dr Jitendra Singh in Bengaluru on Tuesday

UNION Minister of State for Science and Technology Jitendra Singh said the Centre is prepared to decentralise good governance indices. He was speaking at the valedictory of the two-day regional conference, 'Bringing Citizens, Entrepreneurs, and Government closer for Good Governance'.

"We are moving to prepare the District Governance Index with 40 indices, with a scientifically designed method wherein districts in Jammu and Kashmir, Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh have been chosen initially. We will also go to village-level governance indices where Panchayat and District Development Council heads will get involved in the preparation," he said.

The minister appreciated Karnataka for its contribution to the decentralisation of power. "I think Karanataka is the first state to implement the amendment to Article 73 and 74, soon after Rajiv Gandhi took over as prime minister," he remarked. In fact, during Rajiv Gandhi's tenure (1984-89), the draft was drawn up as he mooted amendments, and the bills were passed when P V Narasimha Rao was prime minister. In Karnataka, it was implemented in 1993, when M Veerappa Moily was CM.

He listed out reforms implemented by the Narendra Modi government. The amendment to the Prevention of Corruption Act has been implemented to create a good environment for well-performing officers as it ensured that the bribe giver is as culpable as the taker, he remarked.

Think beyond Bengaluru

The minister said Bengaluru remained the startup capital for IT-related ventures. The potential is far beyond the country, as agriculture technology should be tapped, he said. "Two BTech graduates who were with IT companies in Bengaluru, quit to raise lavender crop in the hillocks of Jammu and Kashmir, and an MBA graduate also quit to help them with marketing," he said, advising bureaucrats to think beyond Bengaluru.

Tests in 22 languages

Singh announced that exams for recruitment to non-gazetted posts in Railways, banks and other Central institutions would be conducted in all 22 languages in the eighth schedule of the Constitution. "By this year-end, in coordination with DoPT, we will hold the first-ever CET. The exams will be conducted in all 22 languages of the 8th Schedule so that the long-time demand of aspirants, especially from South, is fulfilled," he explained.

POLITICAL THEATRE

Will quit politics if SC/ST quota not up: Sriramulu

MYSURU: Transport and Tribal Welfare Minister B Sriramulu on Tuesday said that he will quit politics if the government fails to increase the reservation for SC/STs. Sriramulu told media persons in BR Hills that the process was delayed owing to legal and technical reasons. He, however, said that the government will come out with "good news" at the earliest. The government had promised that the SC quota would be increased to 17% and ST quota to 7.5% within 24 hours of coming to power, he said. Sriramulu said that Justice Subhash B Adi's report on quota demands has been submitted and will be tabled before the cabinet. He questioned Congress' contr-ibution to the development of SC/STs. He accused Congress leader Siddaramaiah of spreading hatred among different castes when in power instead of increasing reservation. Their only achievement is unveiling the state of Valmiki in front of Vidhana Soudha, he said.

Language row: KDA chief takes a dig at Centre

MYSURU: Kannada Development Authority (KDA) chairman TS Nagabharana said, "Hindi-speaking Ministers in the Union Government are like frogs in the well who do not know the richness of other languages in the country." At a review meeting here on Tuesday, Nagabharana said, "Programmes conducted by Youth Services Department are in Sanskrit, English and Hindi... PM's Kisan Samman Nidhi which is for farmers is in English. Centre forces states to conduct programmes in Hindi. They have to realise that only when all the states join together the Centre is formed," he said.

Cong flays govt over flood relief works

BENGALURU: Opposition Congress slammed the State Government for not responding to people suffering due to heavy rains and floods. KPCC president DK Shivakumar said ministers, legislators and leaders visiting the rain-affected areas were not providing any help to people. Speaking to media persons here, Shivakumar said the situation is so bad that the Chief Minister had to request his ministers to visit flood-affected areas. People in Kodagu are suffering due to heavy rains and floods, but the government has not provided any assistance to them, he said and added that ministers are only visiting a few houses and are not working with an objective to provide immediate assistance to people.

Biswas shunted out, local lobby hand suspected

BELAGAVI: The abrupt transfer of Belagavi Regional Commissioner and coordinator of Belagavi Institute of Medical Sciences (BIMS) Amlan Aditya Biswas, at a time when he was single-handedly trying to give a new dimension to BIMS in a short span of one year, has come as a shock to many. According to sources, many doctors and staff at BIMS were not happy with the stringent measures which Biswas had taken to set things in order at the institute. Besides improving several facilities, Biswas was dealing strictly with doctors and other staff at the hospital. A lobby of some local politicians and doctors is said to be behind the transfer of Biswas, sources said. After scores of Covid deaths at BIMS, Biswas was named by CM Basavaraj Bommai to set things in order last year. As per the CM's expectations, Biswas turned things around, and today, BIMS is the 12th best government medical college in the country.

Heave ho! Buses in Shirahatti run on passengers' muscle power

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

Passengers pushing a bus at Shirahatti

THE journey is tough for people from Shirahatti and surrounding areas. Before climbing onto public transport buses attached to the Shirahatti depot of the North Western Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC), passengers should have had a proper meal and be ready to push these buses weighing tonnes to make them start and also to move them when they stop midway through the journey.

Not just one or two, majority of the buses attached to the depot are in this pathetic condition, passengers complain. This depot is a relatively new one, launched only in March this year, after much protest and memorandums to elected representatives from people of the region over the years. But it has been a miss-start from the beginning, with the quality deteriorating over the months.

It has now reached a stage where people are scared to travel in these buses as they are not sure at all of reaching their destination on time. Passengers have put out several videos and photos of people pushing stalled buses that have gone viral, but still, transport department authorities seem not to acknowledge and correct the problem.

A regular bus commuter said, "It has become our daily routine to push the bus. All buses have a starting problem here, and we don't know whether it is because of the bad quality of batteries or some other technical issue. When the buses stop midway, we have to wait for other buses or private vehicles to continue our journey. We have given many memorandums and oral complaints to the authorities, but in vain". An official from the bus depot admitted that some buses are old and they create problems for passengers. However, he added, the divisional controller has ordered 18 new buses that may be delivered in two to three days.

Gadag Divisional Controller FC Hiremath said, "We have provided good-condition buses and all of them have fitness certificates. Complaints of pushing vehicles could be with some old ones. We know that some videos and photos of buses being pushed have gone viral on social media sites."

RAIN FURY KILLS 6 IN TS

Four of a family electrocuted, one drowns in waterfall

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

THERE was no respite from monsoon fury in sight as heavy to very heavy rainfall lashed the State, especially the norther districts on Tuesday. As in the last five days, normal life came to a standstill at several places in the districts due to heavy downpour. The day also witnessed six rain-related deaths -- two in Kamareddy, one each in Mahabubabad and Hyderabad.

In Beedi Workers Colony of Kamareddy, four of a family, including two children, died of electrocution. The victims were identified as Md Ahmed, 40, Parveen, 30, Maheem, 6, and Adnan, 4.

According to Kamareddy Rural Circle Inspector (CI) B Srinivas, Parveen was hanging clothes when she came in contact with a live wire on the terrace of their house while Mohammed and the two children died from electric shock sustained inside the house. "The couple died on the spot while the children died on the way to the hospital, he added.

In Mahabubabad, a youngster drowned in the Seven Hills waterfalls, locally called 'Edu Bavula'. The deceased was identified as D Sai Kumar, 21, a resident of Rotary Nagar in Khammam district, who was studying B Tech final year in a private engineering college.

With the help of swimmers, police retrieved the body from the waterfall.

In Hyderabad, Manjula, 46, a nursery worker who was seriously injured when a tree fell on her two day ago, died while undergoing treatment in a private hospital on Tuesday. In another incident, a biker was injured when a tree fell on him at Pillar Number 39 of PVNR Expressway at Mehdipatnam.

Experts to study landslides, earthquakes in Kodagu: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Madikeri

CHIEF MINISTER Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday said that teams of experts will visit Kodagu to conduct a seismic study in the wake of frequent landslides and earthquakes. The CM was in Madikeri to take stock of the rain damages in the district.

"There are specific zones in the district, which are prone to landslides and that have recorded frequent tremors. I have written to several organisations, including the National Geographic Institute, National Institute for Materials Science, geology departments of Mysuru and Bengaluru universities and Geological Survey of India. Experts from the institutions will study the terrain and a permanent solution will be drawn following the study report. Steps for retrofitting houses located in vulnerable areas will be made. We will use technological support as per the recommendations from the studies to control the disaster," explained Bommai addressing the media after the meeting.

He confirmed that immediate compensation of Rs 10,000 has been handed over to the victims of the incessant rainfall. He visited several rain-affected places in the district and later collected details on the extent of the damages caused by continuous rainfall.

The CM said there is no dearth for funds. "Victims in the affected areas have been shifted to relief centres. I have ordered the authorities to provide ration to the victims - even if they are staying at their relative's houses. Steps to carry out the silt removal process across the Cauvery river in Harangi will be undertaken," he said.

Minister took stock of flood situation: CM

THE CM hit out at opposition parties on allegations that district in-charge ministers have not visited rain-affected areas. He said all district ministers have taken stock of the situation in rain-hit regions and the government machinery is on the job in carrying out all relief measures, especially in low-lying areas.

Meanwhile, Revenue Minister R Ashoka said in Bengaluru that the government will pay Rs 5 lakh compensation to family members of victims who died due to rain in Karnataka. He also said he will visit affected regions along with district-incharge ministers to inspect damages due to heavy rain, flood and even tremors. As many as 14 people have died in Karnataka in rain-related incidents in the last one month.

THE CON ACT

2 fake GST officers held for cheating bizman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TWO fake GST officials who fleeced money from a Mumbai-based businessman on the Tumakuru highway have been arrested by the police. The accused stopped a van in which the complainant's driver was bringing a defunct printing machine to Bengaluru for replacement. The accused demanded an e-way bill which is not required to transport a nonfunctional machine. But still they threatened the driver that they would seize the vehicle and forced the owner to make an online payment of Rs 1.15 lakh. The complainant then approached the ACB officials, who contacted GST officers, and found out that he had been conned. The accused duo had observed the functioning of the genuine GST officials on highways and picked up the skill.

The accused, Uday Kumar, 38, of Gopalapura in Bengaluru North taluk and Sadananda, 50, of Koratagere in Tumakuru, were doing menial jobs and wanted to become rich overnight.

The con happened near Hale Nijagal near Dabaspet. The duo threatened to seize the van if Rs 2.4 lakh fine was not paid on the spot. After the businessman, Rajendra Kotiyan, made the transaction, the accused escaped.

"On June 4, the van driver was parking the vehicle when the accused approached him in the guise of GST officers. They demanded an e-way bill. They called the owner and took Rs 1.15 lakh. The owner then approached the ACB sleuths, who contacted the GST officials to find out details of the two suspects. Two days ago, a police complaint was filed. Based on the mobile phone tower location, the accused were arrested," said an officer.

Crisis in Goa Congress: Party must introspect, says Digambar Kamat

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru\Panaji

THE BJP, which attempted to poach more Congress legislators for a more complete Operation Lotus in Goa, appears to have stalled its plan.

The Congress, on its part, was seeking to take serious disciplinary action against its senior leader Digambar Kamat, who in a late night statement hit out at his party.

"I don't know what crisis is going on in the Congress party. Today I saw his (Dinesh Gundu Rao) video and was shocked, surprised to see the way he was talking. If I wanted to take any action, I had a lot of opportunities in 2017 and 2022," Kamat said.

"I stayed with the party in 2017, when we had a clear mandate, still the party didn't ask me whether I can form the government, and we lost the opportunity. Now, this is the reward I get. They're filing a disqualification petition against me for anti-party activities. I don't understand what are anti-parties activities? The party should find out who is doing this. I worked for the party with sincerity. Congress has to do a lot of introspection as we are losing many elections, and leaders are leaving us.''

Goa state incharge general secretary Dinesh Gundu Rao said, "The truth is out there. Every MLA in the Congress knows the truth. He was himself saying he had been humiliated, no one knows from what angle he was humiliated.''

Congress' pre-poll ally Goa Forward Party leader Vijay Sardesai said, "BJP has the support of 25 MLAs. They are determined to break up the opposition and eradicate all opposition in the assembly, so they can have autocracy. We are seeing an alliance of an aggressive BJP with a section of Congress that is determined to betray the will of the people. Let the people down when they need help. Half of Goa is is under floods, there is rising unemployment, rising prices, and they are choosing to do this now.''

All this is happening when Goa assembly is in session. Sources said 'Operation Kamal' is not over, and some leaders are still trying to poach more Congress MLAs with plum offers.

NO JAIL, BUT HIGH FINES FOR POLLUTERS, PROPOSES MoEF

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change has proposed major amendments in the Environment Protection Act, 1986, that will rule out imprisonment for those who pollute air and water. Instead, the fine to be paid will be massive, said a leading environment expert.

The Impact Assessment Division of the ministry on July 1 put up a notice announcing the changes to be made after taking inputs from various stakeholders. Public have been asked to send their comments and suggestions on it before July 21.

As per the existing provisions of the EPA 1986, which came into effect on November 19, 1986, a violator can be punished with five years of imprisonment, a fine up to Rs 1 lakh or both. In case of a repetition in the violation, an additional fine of Rs 5,000 for every day will be levied, the notice states.

As per the amendment proposed by insertion of Section 14 (A), the penalty will range from a minimum of Rs 5 lakh and a maximum of Rs 5 crore. In case of repeat violation, the additional penalty will be a minimum of Rs one lakh per day. No violator will be imprisoned.

The comments by public can be sent my e-mail as a word document to: diriapolicy-moefcc@gov.in or by post to Sundar Ramanathan, Additional Director/Scientist E, Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, Room no. V-305, Vayu Wing, Indira Paryavaran Bhawan, Jorbagh, Aliganj Road, New Delhi-110 003.

OPS asks EC to bin July 11 AIADMK GC resolutions

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

Terming the July 11 general council meeting convened by AIADMK headquarters office-bearers as illegal, embattled AIADMK leader O Panneerselvam has urged the Chief Election Commissioner not to accept the decisions or act on the resolutions adopted at the meeting. In a letter written on AIADMK head office letterhead in his capacity as coordinator, Panneerselvam also reiterated that he continues to be the coordinator and treasurer of the AIADMK.

"Steps are under contemplation to initiate further appeals before the division bench of the Madras High Court challenging the order of the single judge on July 11 as well as before the Supreme Court. Since the legal recourse is already set in motion, I request the ECI not to take up and rely on the illegal and unlawful resolutions that were taken during the July 11 meeting," Panneerselvam said in his representation dated July 11 submitted to the Election Commission of India.

Pointing to the affidavits of GC and executive committee members, Panneerselvam said, "It is found that these sworn affidavits are prepared on a particular date and got the seal and date of the notary anterior to the date of sworn affidavits and thereafter being sent to the members of the GC and EC for their signatures. Also, these affidavits contained the averments as if the same have been approved even prior to the date of the meeting. Thus, the headquarters office-bearers had prepared, manipulated and fabricated sworn affidavits purported to have been obtained for the purpose of sending them to the ECI."

ED seizes properties of K Mohd Haris of M'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Directorate of Enforcement (ED) has seized immovable properties worth Rs 17.34 crore held in the name of K Mohammed Haris under Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA), 1999, stated the Central agency on Tuesday. The seized properties include two residential houses and one industrial plot situated in Mangaluru.

According to ED, they registered a case under FEMA and investigated the case "based on the information that Haris of Mukka Group of Companies, a resident of Mangaluru, had acquired immovable property, business entities and made forex transactions outside India by violating the provisions of the FEMA," said ED.

The agency added that during the course of investigation they came to know that Haris had acquired a flat in Ajman UAE, held foreign bank accounts and investments/shareholdings in foreign business entity in UAE, totally valued at AED 92,69,025.78 (equivalent to Rs 17,34,80,746), in violation of Section 4 of FEMA.

As per provisions under Section 37A of FEMA, if any foreign exchange, foreign security or immovable property, situated outside India, is suspected to have been held in contravention of Section 4 of FEMA, then the ED is empowered to seize value equivalent within India, of such foreign exchange, foreign security or immovable property, the ED stated.

Actor Shivaranjan fired at, escapes unhurt

BELAGAVI: Veteran Kannada film actor Shivaranjan Bolannavar survived an attempt on his life when three to four rounds of bullets were fired at him in Bailhongal town in Belagavi district at 7.45 pm on Tuesday.

Shivaranjan escaped as none of the bullets hit him. According to sources, the attackers who came on a two-wheeler, are known to the victim's younger brother. Property dispute within the Bolannavar family is said to be the reason behind the attack. Belagavi Superintendent of Police (SP) Sanjeev Patil said police teams have been formed to trace the attackers.

Shivaranjan is known for playing the lead role in seven Kannada movies that include 'Satya Sandesha', 'Banni Ondsala Nodi', 'Amrita Sindhu', 'Veera Bhadra', and 'Kanasemba Kudureyeri. ENS

EPS HAS MANY BRIDGES TO CROSS AS NEW LEADER

On Monday, Edappadi K Palaniswami successfully sealed his dominance over the AIADMK, the principal Opposition party in Tamil Nadu, booting out three-time Chief Minister O Panneerselvam. Palaniswami stage-managed a general council meeting that crowned him interim general secretary, the most powerful post in the party, and expelled Panneerselvam and his supporters. Palaniswami will face an election to confirm his position in a few months. He is expected to sail through.

For his part, Panneerselvam has again turned to the courts and the Election Commission for succour. Of biggest concern to both factions will be to wrest the 'Two Leaves' symbol, the party's lifeline. Palaniswami will also have to get the party office unsealed. It was sealed after a clash between both factions ahead of the GC meeting following the entry of Team OPS into the building.

It is no surprise that Palaniswami has come out on top. Both were known to be close to the late party supremo, J Jayalalithaa. But Panneerselvam's many flip-flops since her demise against her aide VK Sasikala and then in favour of Sasikala – as well as close ties with the BJP have hurt his credibility. Colleagues accused him of doing little for his supporters. Palaniswami, on the other hand, used his four years as CM to build his base in the party by doling out favours and honing his image on the lines of AIADMK founder MG Ramachandran. Watching from the sidelines are the DMK and the BJP. The latter has wet its feet in Tamil Nadu on the back of an alliance with AIADMK and will look to supplant it in the coming years. Meanwhile, in the short-run, any disarray will favour the ruling DMK, which is also pursuing graft cases against Palaniswami's key aides. Further, despite his best efforts, Palaniswami is not a mass leader commanding undying loyalty like Jaya and MGR. Although he leveraged cunning, ruthlessness and strategic generosity to take the party's reins, the true test of his leadership will be to keep his flock together amidst the present turmoil and to seal his position as the party's new supremo with a respectable performance in the 2024 parliamentary elections.

STARTUPS MUST REDEFINE GROWTH GOAL

Startups, the darling of investors, are struggling. A recent PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) report said Indian startups, which had raked in $10 billion in each of the three earlier consecutive quarters, were hit by a decline in funding by 40% to $6.8 billion for the last April-June quarter. PwC's 'Startup Deals Tracker' put down the trend to the global slowdown, decrease in tech stock valuations, inflation and geopolitical instability triggered by the Ukraine war. The trend translated to online educator Byju's, one of the largest startups with a valuation of $20 billion, struggling to close a funding round of $800 million. Two main investors—Sumeru Ventures and Oxshott—did not pay up their committed $250 million for 'macroeconomic' reasons.

The global slowdown and the resultant scarcity of deployable investment seem to be redefining 'business performance'. From the old mantra of growth at any cost, there is now some fresh stocktaking on the basis of business profitability. In a significant missive to its employees, education technology startup, Unacademy, said it would now focus on its bottom line and cut back on costs. Some of its unprofitable global businesses would be shut down, founders and senior management will take pay cuts, not travel first or business class, and employees will have to do without complimentary meals and snacks.

Startups have run into headwinds because of two factors: regular investors are in trouble in the face of recessionary conditions; and second, with valuations of startup stocks eroding, it is taking much more effort to raise funds. Startups have always been about a great idea that takes time and money to find commercial success. The two sectors that have attracted funding are Software as a Service (SaaS) and fintech companies, both areas where it is difficult to count profit initially. The PwC report sees the current shortfall in startup funding to continue for some time but expects things will stabilize in 12–18 months. This is therefore a good time to rekindle the debate on 'growth-versus-profit' and hope startup promoters focus on their original business plan and core competence.

GST is seen as a shining example of cooperative federalism aimed at taking the country towards a one-nation, one-tax and one-market regime

FIVE YEARS OF GST AND THE WAY FORWARD

SOUMYADIP SINHA

CHANDRAJIT BANERJEE

Director General, Confederation of Indian Industry

The unified Goods and Services Tax (GST), lauded as a historic and game-changing reform, completed five years of its successful implementation on June 30, 2022. Considered one of the biggest reforms in India's tax history, GST is seen as a shining example of cooperative federalism aimed at taking the country towards a one-nation, one-tax and one-market regime by streamlining the tax administration and reducing the taxpayer's compliance burden.

The GST subsumed over 17 central and state taxes and 13 cesses and aligned India with global tax regimes. It also brought down tax slabs from around 20 before the introduction of GST to four at present.

The journey was, no doubt, beset with multifarious challenges. This included achieving a consensus between stakeholders under the federal structure, facilitating a smooth and orderly migration of the existing taxpayers to the new regime and ensuring that the new system resonates with the diverse aspirations of the citizens.

Nevertheless, the proactive and consultative approach between the Centre and the states helped overcome the initial glitches and resulted in the successful implementation of the landmark reform.

The government must be complimented for accommodating the diverse interests of stakeholders. The initiatives to make the regime more acceptable to taxpayers include continuous consultations, issues of clarifications wherever needed, and many mid-way changes such as fine-tuning rates, raising the threshold exemptions, deferring certain provisions, and issuing simplified formats for return filing, among others.

The government also ensured that the implementation of GST did not unduly burden the MSMEs. Hence, steps were taken to facilitate ease of compliance—enhanced threshold exemptions from GST registration, quarterly filing of GST returns for taxpayers with an annual turnover of ₹5 crore, exemption from GST payment at the time of receipt of advances on account of the supply of goods, and a composition levy scheme, among others. Similarly, to facilitate small taxpayers, the number of return filings stands reduced to quarterly or annual depending on the scheme the taxpayer opts for.

The consensus-building efforts made by the government made a far-reaching impact in terms of reducing the cascading impact of taxation and unifying the Indian market by enabling seamless cross-border input tax credit. Besides, the tax transformation brought mass awareness about the indirect tax system and built an assessment-friendly tax administration. Moreover, the integration of GSTN with other systems could promote digitisation of the economy, going forward.

The GST regime also enhanced productivity and efficiency among businesses. It resulted in formalisation of the Indian economy, facilitated ease of doing business and, by removing inter-state barriers, brought about logistics and warehousing efficiencies for industry.

Anti-profiteering measures hold a special place in the GST regime and are meant to protect the consumer from unfair profiteering. This ensures that the benefits of input tax credit or reduction in tax rates are passed on to the consumers. The advance ruling process under GST is effectively providing clarity.

Major items such as electricity, alcohol, petroleum goods and real estate are still outside the ambit of GST, preventing the seamless flow of input tax credit. To begin with, the government may like to consider including petroleum products, especially ATF, under GST

The GST regime demonstrated resilience despite the devastation caused by the pandemic. Its performance in terms of revenue collection is impressive. While revenues were impacted during the brief lockdown phase, collections crossed the one-lakh-crore-rupee mark since October 2020.

The latest data indicates that tax collections went up by 56% year-on-year to touch ₹1.44 lakh crore in June, the second-highest since April 2022. The revenue would remain buoyant as economic activity gains traction, compliance improves, and the services sector growth picks up pace.

GST registration data shows a rise of 50% in the number of indirect taxpayers. The number of voluntary registrations increased a lot, especially by small enterprises that buy from large enterprises and want to avail of Input Tax Credits (ITC). Filing of tax returns witnessed significant improvement.

Hopefully, the work towards designing a flawless GST system would continue apace. The process of filing taxes should be simplified to expand the tax base. Besides, the rationalisation of the GST tax structure by moving towards a three-slab structure, to begin with, should be hastened.

The government may like to further simplify the complexities of input tax credit and classification. Single centralised registration and review of the inverted duty structure are also crucial. The setting up of GST Appellate Tribunals may be expedited to further reduce the delay in filing of appeals.

Major items such as electricity, alcohol, petroleum goods and real estate are still outside the ambit of GST, preventing the seamless flow of input tax credit. To begin with, the government may like to consider including petroleum products, especially ATF, under GST. This would be especially beneficial for the aviation industry which is hugely impacted by high and rising fuel costs. Similarly, LNG which is used as feedstock in the production process of many industries could also be brought under the purview of GST and input tax credit be made available.

It is hoped that the journey of fine-tuning the system to make the country a national market continues, and our tax system will be in sync with the best practices prevailing across the globe.

A LEGACY LOST TOO SOON: ABE & THE INDO-PACIFIC

SHANKARI SUNDARARAMAN

Professor at School of International Studies, JNU, New Delhi

ASIAN AXIS

Last week's mindless assassination of former Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe sent shock waves across the world. The longest-serving Prime Minister of Japan fell to an assassin's bullet and succumbed almost immediately. While the world mourns the loss of a statesman and a leader, the academic community is bereft of a scholar.

The term, 'Indo-Pacific', has increasingly gained currency across the political and foreign policy spectrums around the world today. Prime Minister Abe was among the first to articulate it when he addressed the Indian parliament in 2007 (it is famously known as the 'Confluence of the Two Seas' speech). Quoting Swami Vivekananda and from Prince Dara Shikoh's work 'Majma-ul-Bahrain', Abe introduced two concepts.

First is the intermingling of different streams to converge into the seas. Second, he emphasised the interconnectedness of the Indian and Pacific oceans as 'seas of freedom and prosperity'. Abe also noted how India's relevance to the emerging contours of the Indo-Pacific would shape the latter's strategic vision.

This approach to the Indo-Pacific clearly endorsed a shift in how the maritime perspectives of regional states were reshaping themselves. Arguments of Asian states emerging from the cold war with an external focus and a willingness to engage more robustly ushered in the growth of multilateralism in the region, led in many ways by the ASEAN mechanisms.

When the East Asia Summit emerged in 2005, it was seen as a precursor to the idea of the Indo-Pacific, bringing a mosaic of countries together despite a vertical divide between them. China and several ASEAN states were on one side with a tilt towards the authoritarian models of governance. The United States, India, Japan, Australia and New Zealand, along with a few ASEAN states, represented the democratic side of the divide. Around this time, specifically in 2007, Abe proposed the 'Arc of Freedom and Prosperity', which identified multilateral engagement promoting the key pillars of free trade, connectivity and the rule of law.

As the concept of the Indo-Pacific took firmer shape, this divide became more prominent with the emergence of the Quad, which too found significant support from the Abe administration. The Quad was initially conceived as early as 2007, but countries like Australia shied away from it because of their close economic ties with China. As the regional dynamics were impacted by China's rise and its unilateral posturing, the need for the Quad re-emerged and from 2017 it began to take a more institutional shape. Though the concept of the 'Free and Open Indo-Pacific' was unveiled by President Donald Trump in November 2017, it was Prime Minister Abe who conceived that idea, pointing to it a year earlier in a speech in Nairobi while discussing Africa's developmental issues.

The idea highlighted the need to bridge the continental divides, bringing the African continent into the Indo-Pacific dynamic. It was seen in the context of China's growing focus on Africa where African needs for infrastructure were driving Chinese investments into the region and China's demands for resources were being met in return.

Prime Minister Abe's approach was to make a concerted effort at global governance of maritime commons. He represented a kind of collective approach to managing both security and economic ties in the larger regional expanse through a rules-based order subjected to unilateral changes by rising powers

Following this initial reference to a 'Free and Open Indo-Pacific', Prime Minister Abe and Prime Minister Narendra Modi in November 2016 began to evolve the framework for the Asia Africa Growth Corridor (AAGC), to establish a critical developmental link between the continents, pushing forward the possibility of collaborative engagement in the wider region.

The concept of 'Free and Open Indo-Pacific' thereafter became the pivot for the re-convened Quad meetings with individual members articulating their separate visions of what constitutes each country's Indo-Pacific strategy. While the member states of the region have used various adjectives to describe the region, the core focus always revolved around the concepts of 'free and open'. The phrase went beyond mere semantics and looked at three crucial pillars that Japan prioritised for the region. These three pillars endorsed the following: first, adherence to international law, right of passage and navigation. Second, preserving the region's open economy and trade relations, a key component where Japan's views converged with the ASEAN Outlook on the Indo-Pacific. Third, promoting a stable and peaceful Indo-Pacific, where both traditional and non-traditional security issues could be addressed. Similarly, several European states also pushed forward their individual and collective views on the Indo-Pacific, bringing greater global focus on the shifts in the immediate region.

Behind this evolving vision of the Indo-Pacific was a leader who saw the regional maritime conflicts from a nationalistic perspective. Chinese assertions in the East Sea and the South China Sea were issues that critically undermined the relevance of international law and the existing normative order, impacting interstate relations at the bilateral and multilateral levels. Prime Minister Abe's approach was to make a concerted effort at global governance of maritime commons. Prime Minister Abe represented a kind of collective approach to managing both security and economic ties in the larger regional expanse through a rules-based order subjected to unilateral changes by rising powers. What Abe envisioned was a more international and governance-based approach to the Indo-Pacific where all states, big and small, could exercise their rights through respect for international law and normative values. This is the legacy of the Indo-Pacific that needs to be enshrined, even though the voice behind it has been lost too soon.

Kindness triumphs

This is with reference to UP Muslim brothers serve Amarnath pilgrims (July 12). It is truly very heartwarming to see people from the Muslim community being so selfless in their actions, especially during a time when communal disputes are at their peak. If all Indians emulated this kind and benevolent nature, perhaps we could achieve Mahatma Gandhi's India someday.

Diversity over divide

This is with reference to UP Muslim brothers serve Amarnath pilgrims (July 12). This action conveys a strong message to those who like to indulge in hate speech in an attempt to divide communities and destroy our diversity. This is a perfect example and opportunity for Indians to choose harmony over dissonance.

This is with reference to the editorial Naveen plays smart politics over Murmu (July 12). By all accounts, Odisha's Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik is one of the most consummate politicians in our country. His endorsing the candidacy of Droupadi Murmu for the President was a political master stroke. His easy elegance and unique style of doing things, without throwing much weight around, is a connoisseur's delight. Easy effectiveness is synonymous with him.

Population woes

This is with reference to Whoa, India to be world's most populous next year (July 12). Though India will be leading in terms of population early next year, it lags very much behind other countries with respect to per capita income and human development. It also needs to alleviate poverty, provide food security and create employment opportunities for the youth.

Unity is strength

Following the violence in and around the AIADMK headquarters in Chennai, the General Council of the party declared K Palaniswami as the interim General Secretary of the party. The General Council also expelled O Panneerselvam and his supporters from the primary membership of the party. It is unlikely that OPS will take this humiliation lightly. After Jayalalithaa's demise, EPS came into the picture with the support of Sasikala. Now, Sasikala has come out in support of OPS. EPS may have won the battle within the party, but a divided party can hardly hope to return to power in the state. The members of both these factions should remember the old saying: 'Unity is strength'.

'Don't fret over UN report, India's population on decline'

Fertility rates in India show a declining trend and there's no need to be concerned over UN projection of country overtaking China: Expert

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

POPULATION IN 2022

India	China
1.412 bn	1.426 bn

PROJECTED POPULATION IN 2050

India	China
1.668 bn	1.317 bn

- National Family Health Survey (NFHS-5) shows India's total fertility rate (TFR) has declined from 2.2 in 2015-16 to 2.0 in 2019-21, indicating progress of population control programmes
- India's growth rate stood at 2.3 per cent in 1972, which has dropped down to less than 1 per cent now
- States that are considering framing law on population control: Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Tripura and Assam; UP law commission had already submitted a draft Uttar Pradesh Population (Control, Stabilization and Welfare) Bill, 2021

POONAM Muttreja, Executive Director of the Population Foundation of India (PFI), is not worried about a United Nations report projecting India overtaking China as the world's most populous country by next year. She says India's population growth is already on a decline.

"There is no reason to be concerned. India has already started experiencing a dip in fertility rates. The Indian Census data on population confirms that the decadal growth rate during 2001-2011 had reduced to 17.7% from 21.5% over 1991-2001," said Muttreja.

The UN report, released on Monday, says by 2050, India's population will reach 166. 8 crore, surpassing China's population at 131.7 crore.

The findings of the report have sparked a debate in many quarters over whether India needs to act more on its population policy programmes.

However, the expert pointed out that according to the latest National Family Health Survey (NFHS), the Total Fertility Rate (TFR) is decreasing in India, and it has gone down from 3.4 in 1992-93 to 2.0 in 2019-21 (NFHS).

"This indicates that the country is on course to achieving population stabilization," she said.

However, she points out that the absolute number of people in the country will continue to grow for some time due to a high proportion of young persons in the population. "Even if this cohort of young population produces only one or two children per couple, it will still result in a quantum increase in population size before stabilizing, which as per current projections will happen around 2050," said Muttreja.

The UN report comes at a time when several states including UP, MP, Karnataka, Uttarakhand, Tripura and Assam are considering laws to control the population growth.

Last year, the UP Law Commission submitted a draft of the Uttar Pradesh Population Bill, to incentivize families to follow a two-child norm.

Stressing that India does not need any policy to control population growth, Muttreja said a population control policy would adversely impact the marginalized sections of society, who lack access to child and maternal health care services.

"There is a perception that India's population is 'exploding' and we need to 'control' it as resources are limited. Also, there is widespread misinformation that the Muslim community will soon surpass the Hindu population despite the fact that the population growth rate is declining across all religion and communities," she said. "There is no evidence that coercive policies work."

She also cited the experience of southern states such as Kerala and Tamil Nadu. "To lower fertility and stabilize population, other states should ensure the provision of basic services, expand opportunities, invest in girls' education and access to family planning services".

The expert also said that India should learn from the mistakes of China, which had enforced a one-child policy, which it had to abandon later, because of a population crisis.

Demand for bill gathers steam

NEW DELHI: The UN report on population has rekindled the debate on population bill, a long-standing demand of BJP-ruled states and party lawmakers. Rajya Sabha MP Rakesh Sinha, who had earlier brought a private member bill seeking to enforce the two-child norm, said the report vindicated his position. He told TNIE that he is planning to create more awareness among MPs in the coming monsoon session. "We will discuss the bill in the light of the UN report," Sinha said. "We should be worried about imbalance in the population and depleting resources." Sinha's bill, which proposed penal provisions, was dismissed by Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya who said the government had successfully used awareness and health campaigns to attain population control. On allegations that the proposal to bring a population law is aimed is targeting the Muslims, Sinha said, "Some people have hidden agenda of increasing population. There is no place for demographic jihad in this country."

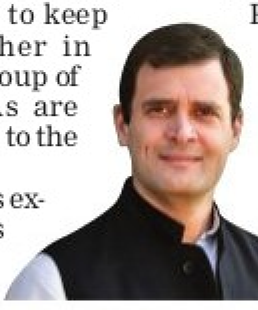
RAHUL FLIES TO EUROPE, TO SKIP KEY PARTY MEET

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AHEAD of a key party meeting to discuss organisational elections and the much touted Bharat-Jodo Yatra' starting October 2, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi flew abroad on a personal visit. However, he is expected to be back before the start of Parliament's monsoon session on July 18 and polling for presidential elections.

Congress president Sonia Gandhi has called a meeting of the party's central in-charges, states heads and chiefs of frontal organisations on July 14. The agenda is discussion on party president's elections scheduled in mid-August and Kashmir to Kanyakumari 'Bharat Jodo Yatra'.

Sources said Rahul flew to Europe early Tuesday and will be back to attend the monsoon session next week. The trip comes at a time when the party is struggling to keep its flock together in Goa, where a group of Congress MLAs are looking to defect to the BJP.



The meeting is expected to discuss the election for party president which has been pending for long. Rahul had resigned as Congress chief in 2019 after the party's debacle in the Lok Sabha elections.

Rahul has often faced flak for his frequent visits abroad, especially at crucial junctures.

His recent visit to Cambridge, UK, had courted controversy with the BJP saying that he did not take permission for the event. The Congress had said that for private events, MPs don't need clearance from the foreign ministry.

In May this year, the BJP circulated videos of Rahul at a night club in Kathmandu where he had gone to attend a friend's wedding.

Congress chief Sonia Gandhi will also chair a meeting of Congress Parliamentary Strategy Group on Thursday to discuss party's strategy for upcoming monsoon session of Parliament starting July 18. The Congress is looking to raise issues related to Agnipath scheme, inflation, unemployment and Indo-China border issues among others.

The Centre has also called an all party meeting on July 17.

Gehlot, Baghel to be poll observers in Gujarat, HP

NEW DELHI: With the upcoming Assembly elections in mind, the Congress on Tuesday appointed Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot and Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel as senior observers for Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh, respectively.

For Gujarat, the Congress has once again relied on old hand and Gandhi family confidante Gehlot, who was former state in-charge. The party has been out of power in the state for more than two decades. He will be assisted by Chhattisgarh cabinet minister T S Singhdeo and former central minister Milind Deora, who had been sidelined in the party following his resignation as Mumbai Congress chief.

Baghel will oversee Himachal, where the Congress is in a direct fight with the BJP and has better possibilities of forming a government, given the anti-incumbency. Former Rajasthan Congress chief Sachin Pilot and Punjab MLA Partap Singh Bajwa were also named as observers for the Himalayan state. ENS

98% candidates will get CUET centre in chosen city

NEW DELHI: As anxious students raised grievances of admit cards being released late for the Common University Entrance Test (CUET) for undergraduate courses in 2022, the University Grants Commission (UGC) on Tuesday said at least 98% candidates appearing for the exam will be allotted the centres in the city of their choice. UGC Chairman M Jagadesh Kumar also announced that the admit cards for Phase II students of the exam for admission to UG programmes would be issued on July 31. The National Testing Agency (NTA), which was scheduled to release the admit cards for phase 1 students on Tuesday evening, had not announces it till the time of going to Press. Kumar said the admit cards had been released four days before the examination due to security reasons and to avoid malpractice. Students should not get worried, he said in a video statement. The NTA will conduct the exam between July 15 and August 20 at examination centres located in 500 cities across India and ten cities outside the country. "Over 14 lakh candidates have registered for the exam, which will be conducted across 500 cities. It is a mammoth task, and NTA is a professional exam conducting body. The students should not get worried," Kumar said. He said as the NTA has already issued the city intimation slip for candidates of both phases, there is no need for any anxiety. "I urge the students not to panic about it because nearly 97 percent to 98 percent of candidates will get their choice of the city, and only about two per cent of candidates may not get their choice of the city, but they will surely get a second choice of their city," he said. ENS

SC extends interim bail to Zubair, UP forms SIT to probe charges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Lucknow

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday extended the interim bail for Mohammed Zubair, cofounder of fact-check website Alt News.

The Uttar Pradesh police have registered a case against him in Sitapur, the hearing of which is due September 7. In order to probe half-a-dozen cases registered against Zubair in different parts of the state, the UP government has set up an SIT headed by Inspector General of Police Preetinder Singh.

In the Supreme Court, Solicitor General SV Raju appeared for the state and told a bench of Justices DY Chandrachud and AS Bopanna that he wanted to file a counter-affidavit to the plea of Zubair seeking to quash the FIR lodged in the case.

The apex court gave the state government four weeks to file the affidavit and listed the case on September 7 for a final hearing. The five-day interim bail involving Zubair was granted by a vacation bench of the SC.

Senior advocate Colin Gonsalves represented Zubair, who faces three different cases.

He was arrested in Delhi on June 27 over his 2018 tweet. It was within days that he had highlighted sacked BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma's controversial comment on Prophet Muhammad in a TV show.

The police added another charge on July 2 against Zubair under the Foreign Contribution Regulation Act. He was kept in custody for 14 more days. On July 4, another case was filed in UP against him for using "offensive term hatemongers" against three Hindu seers.

In Lucknow, Additional Director General of Police (Law and Order) Prashant Kumarthe SIT said the SIT was set up to ensure impartial and transparent probe in all six cases lodged against Zubair. "The SIT will probe the cases and file a chargesheet soon," he said.

Zubair, who was lodged at Sitapur jail in UP, was sent to Tihar jail in Delhi on Monday. Of the six cases, two are lodged in Hathras and one each in Sitapur, Lakhimpur Kheri, Ghaziabad and Muzaffarnagar.

Bail hearing in Delhi adjourned to Thursday

A Delhi court on Tuesday adjourned to July 14 the bail hearing of Mohd Zubair after Special Public Prosecutor Atul Srivastava, appearing for police, , sought time saying another hearing is pending in SC in a case against Zubair filed by UP

'Mining policy has pushed up export'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

CLAIMING that the Narendra Modi government has ushered in transparency, removed barriers and taken care of environmental concerns related to the coal sector, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said on Tuesday that the new policies would make India self-reliant in mines and minerals.

Addressing the sixth 'National Seminar on Mines and Minerals', organised by the Coal and Mines ministry, Shah said the government's effort to introduce competition in the sector has contributed in making India the "fastest growing economy in the world".

Taking a dig at the Congress-led UPA dispensation over the coal scam and making light of its 'first come, first served' policy, Shah defended the Modi government's auction route. "Corruption had dug deep roots in the coal sector for decades. There were court cases in allocation of coal blocks. The CAG had raised several questions and many allocations were cancelled earlier," he said.

Pointing out that competition in the mining sector and the Centre's creation of proper infrastructure for extracting mineral resources had pushed exports, Shah said coal production, which stood at 556 million tonnes in 2013-14, increased to 777 million tonnes in 2021-22.

TRADE TALKS

PM Modi to attend first I2U2 meet

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

WITH a focus on joint investments and trade partnerships, the first I2U2 Summit will be held virtually on July 14, with Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Israeli Prime Minister Yair Lapid, UAE President Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al Nahyan, and US President Joe Biden attending the event.

The meeting will coincide with Biden's visit to the Middle East. The I2U2 (India, Israel, the US and the UAE) grouping was conceptualised during the meeting of the foreign ministers of the four countries, which was held on October 18, 2021.

Each country also has Sherpa-level interactions regularly to discuss the possible areas of cooperation.

"I2U2 is aimed at encouraging joint investments in the six mutually identified areas of water, energy, transportation, space, health, and food security. It intends to mobilise private sector capital and expertise to help modernise the infrastructure, low carbon development pathways for our industries, improve public health, and promote the development of critical emerging and green technologies,'' according to a statement issued by the Ministry of External Affairs.

The four leaders are expected to discuss the possible joint projects within the framework of I2U2 as well as the other common areas of mutual interest to strengthen the economic partnership in trade and investment in the respective regions and beyond. These projects can serve as a model for economic cooperation and offer opportunities for businesspersons and workers.

Brazil wants Indian help in submarine maintenance

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

IN a positive development for the nascent Indian defence industry, Brazil has opened discussions with India for maintenance of its submarines. A Brazilian Navy delegation led by Vice-Admiral (Liberal Enio Zanelatto, Director of Industrial Production and Engineering, called on Vice- Adm iralAjendra Bahadur Singh, Flag Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Western Naval Command, in Mumbai on Monday.

"During the two-day visit, the Brazilian delegation held extensive discussions with the Indian counterparts, with focus on maintenance of submarines. The delegation also visited Mazagon Docks Shipbuilders Ltd and a Kalvari (Scorpene) class submarine," a statement by the Indian Navy said.

MDL is involved in manufacturing six conventional Scorpene (Project 75) jointly with the Naval Group of France. The sixth and last submarine of the Indian Navy's Kalvari class submarines was launched in April this year. The Brazilian Navy also operates 4 Scorpene class submarines and is exploring options for collaboration towards maintenance of the diesel-electric attack submarines.

The two Vice-Admirals discussed various issues of common interest, including submarines technology, Make in India, initiatives towards professional cooperation between the navies, and the outlook of the Indian Navy towards shared maritime interests with all like-minded nations.

India is turning its focus on increasing its exports of defence equipment and services. In January, the country had bagged a major defence contract when the Philippines approved a $374.96 million (₹2700 crore) contract for the purchase of Brahmos anti-ship missile system.

Sanjay Jaju, Additional Secretary in the Department of Defence Production recently said India's defence exports touched a high of ₹13,000 crore in 2021-22. The private sector have dominated the exports.

India's defence exports were worth just ₹1,941 crore in the financial year 2014-15. The figures increased to ₹2,059 crore in 2015-16, ₹9,115 crore in 2019-20 and ₹8,434 crore in 2020-21.

DCGI nod to cervical cancer vax sale

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) on Tuesday granted market authorisation to the Serum Institute of India (SII) to manufacture India's first indigenously-developed Quadrivalent Human Papillomavirus vaccine (qHPV) against cervical cancer, officials said.

Soon after the approval, SII CEO and owner Adar Poonawalla tweeted: "For the first time, there will be an Indian HPV vaccine to treat cervical cancer in women that is affordable and accessible."

"We look forward to launching it later this year," Poonawalla tweeted as he thanked the DGCI and the Health Ministry for the approval. The DCGI's approval came following a recommendation by the Subject Expert Committee on Covid-19 of the CDSCO on June 15.

SII's director of government and regulatory Affairs, Prakash Kumar Singh, on June 8, applied to the DGCI for market authorisation of the qHPV vaccine after the phase 2/3 clinical trial was completed with the support of the Department of Biotechnology.

In the application to the DCGI, Singh is learnt to have stated that qHPV vaccine CERVAVAC has demonstrated a robust antibody response that is nearly 1,000 times higher than the baseline against all targeted HPV types and in all dose and age groups.

Cervical cancer is the second most frequent cancer among women between 15 and 44 years of age in India.

The National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI), too, had recently approved the qHPV after reviewing the clinical trial data of the vaccine.

HIGH DEATH RATIO IN INDIA

Cervical cancer is the second most frequent cancer among women aged between 15 and 44 years, with a high death ratio in India. Every year, 122,844 women in the country are diagnosed with cervical cancer and of them, 67,477 succumb to it.

Sena asks guv to stop cabinet oath

Shiv Sena leader Subhash Desai has written to Maharashtra governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari that no minister in the Eknath Shinde-led government should be sworn in unless the Supreme Court gives its final verdict over the disqualifications of Sena MLAs.

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

SHIV Sena president Uddhav Thackeray on Tuesday announced his party's support to NDA's Presidential candidate, Droupadi Murmu. The decision, Uddhav said, was made because many tribal community leaders belonging to the Shiv Sena met him and requested that the party support Murmu. He denied that there was any pressure by his Lok Sabha MPs to extend support to any particular candidate.

"We have taken this decision of supporting Droupadi Murmu keeping the larger interest of the country in mind. Earlier also, we supported UPA candidate Pratibha Patil and Pranab Mukherjee," Uddhav said, adding, "Our MPs had asked me to take the final call over supporting any candidate in the President ofIndia elections." Earlier, Shiv Sena Lok Sabha MP Rahul Shewale and Rajendra Gavit had written to Uddhav to support Murmu. Uddhav stated that he would be happy if a woman from a tribal community gets the topmost post of the country.

Shiv Sena had earlier called a meeting of its Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha MPs to discuss the issue. While most MPs were in favour of supporting Murmu, a few, including Sanjay Raut, were against it.

Raut said the Shiv Sena has taken many such decisions that are beyond the party's line of thinking.

Questioning the Sena's decision, Congress leader Balasaheb Thorat said this is ideological fight, and not a question of any caste or community. He added that the parties which are fighting to save the Constitution and democracy are supporting the Opposition's candidate, Yashwant Sinha. "Why does Shiv Sena support Droupadi Murmu? The question will have to be answered by Sena leadership only," Thorat said. "In Maharashtra, the Uddhav Thackeray-led government was weakened and toppled by using illegal means, and still Sena wants to support the NDA candidate in the President of India elections. It is beyond our comprehension. Shiv Sena is part of Maha Vikas Aghadi. They did not consult us before announcing such a decision," Thorat added.

In one sense, though, this is not out of character for the Shiv Sena. It has broken ranks with its allies twice in the past, to support Pratibha Patil and Pranab Mukherjee, in the Presidential elections.

'FORGET SHORTCUTS, FOCUS ON DUTIES FOR A STRONGER INDIA'

Prime Minister Narendra Modi takes part in a religious ritual in Ranchi during his tour to the state on Tuesday | PTI

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday called upon people to embark on the path of duties so that the country could emerge as a powerful nation in 25 years, coinciding with the centenary of Independence.

Addressing a meeting to mark the conclusion of the centennial celebration of the state assembly building, Modi said, "People across the world say the 21st century belongs to India, but I say the century should be dedicated to performing our duties. We have to achieve our goals by moving on the path of duties."

He said that India was emerging as a strong power due to the people's sense of duty. He exhorting legislators to behave in the House decently so that their sense of duty was well reflected. "Representatives of the people have to reiterate their commitment to their duties," he added.

The PM said with changing times, not only policies were required but also archaic laws and policies needed to be repealed. The Centre had repealed 1,500 archaic laws, yet in states, there are so many archaic laws. These laws need to be revisited," he said.

"We would be entitled more to our rights if we performed our duties firmly," he added.

"We are in the 75th year of Independence with a resolve to make a new country. Parliament as well as assemblies have also their own share of responsibilities," he added.

The PM sought to differ with those who contended that India accepted democracy only because of foreign rule and foreign thought. "When a large part of the world was progressing towards democracy and civilisation, democracy existed in a matured stage in Bihar's Vaishali," said the PM. "India does not need only to be the largest democracy but also a mature democracy,'' he commented. India is a mother of democracy and Bihar in particular should take pride in proclaiming so," he noted.

Modi is the first Prime Minister who has visited Bihar Assembly.

Taking a dig at the Opposition parties during his visit to ranchi, Prime Minister Narendra Modi cautioned the countrymen against the 'politics of shortcuts', saying that it can 'destroy' the nation.

PM Modi, while addressing a gathering after the inauguration of Deoghar airport in Jharkhand on Tuesday, asked people to "stay away from politics of shortcuts as shortcut leads to short circuit.

Then, referring to the political parties which offer freebies during elections and thereafter, PM Modi made it clear that the parties, that promis freebies cannot build new airports, hospitals or modern highways in the country.

Tejashwi for Bharat Ratna to Karpoori

The demand to confer 'Bharat Ratna' to veteran socialist leader and former Bihar chief minister late Karpoori Thakur has gained momentum once again after leader of opposition Tejashwi Prasad Yadav raised the issue before PM Narendra Modi at a function held in Patna on Tuesday. Tejashwi, who was present at the concluding centenary celebration of Bihar assembly building, also demanded opening of a 'School of Democracy Legislative Study' to conduct more research and training on Indian Democracy, the seeds of which were sowed in Bihar's ancient Vaishali(Licchhavi kingdom) is considered to be the cradle of democracy.

Flower-waste upcycling initiative at Gaya

Taking a cue from Kashi Vishwanath and Jagannathpuri temples, Bihar's Bodh Gaya Temple Management Committee (BTMC) has decided to sign an MoU to make incense sticks fleather (made from flower waste), leather wagon and other bio-degradable materials at the Mahabodhi Mahavihara temple, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The materials will be made from the flowers offered by devotees. Gaya district magistrate, who also happens to be the BTMC chairman, Thiyagrajan S M, said a decision to this effect was taken at the quarterly meeting of the committee. He said an MoU will be signed with a company founded by an engineering graduate Ankit Agrawal. The BTMC's initiative has widely been appreciated.

Row over BJP minister's offer to step down

A fresh row between ruling NDA partners – BJP and JD-U – erupted once again when BJP minister Ram Surat Kumar offered to resign from his post following transfer and posting of officers of state revenue and land reforms department put on hold by chief minister Nitish Kumar. The transfers were effected on June 30 on the recommendation of the minister. The minister was so aggrieved with the chief minister's decision that he offered to resign from the cabinet. He, however, alleged that land mafia was behind it. This is the second occasion when chief minister put on hold the transfers of circle officers and other officials of the department in the last one year.

84 dead in Maharashtra floods; Mumbai on alert

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

HEAVY rainfall and flooding over the last 10 days has wreaked havoc in Maharashtra, leaving 84 people dead and 66 others injured. The Indian Meteorological Department has issued red alert in Mumbai, Thane, Konkan region and Gadchiroli district.

As many as 249 villages have been severely affected due to floods in the Gadchiroli district, according to disaster management officials.

Thirty five relief camps have been opened for people who have got displaced due to the situation.While 44 houses have got fully damaged, 1,368 residential units are partially damaged. About 180 animals have died. So far, the state government and National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) teams have evacuated 5,968 people from various places.

Dam reservoirs in the state have been filled to more than half the capacity in the last 10 days of rainfall.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis visited the flood-affected areas and promised to extend all possible help to people. Meanwhile, Shinde also said that the government will soon release the ₹50,000 allowance amount to farmers who regularly pay their crop loan.

Heavy rains lash Gujarat, fear of flood looms in state

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

VERY heavy rain in most parts of Gujarat has resulted in a flood-like situation in the state, with the India Meteorological Department forecasting similar conditions until July 15. Many regions have been put on high alert due to overflowing rivers and torrential downpour.

Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel on Tuesday conducted an aerial survey of the flood-affected areas. He also visited Bodeli, Rajpipla, Navsari, and Chhota Udepur areas. Patel interacted with people in Bodeli, and took stock of the ongoing rescue and relief work from officials.

State Disaster Management Minister Rajendra Trivedi on Tuesday briefed the media persons about the review meeting held at the State Emergency Operations Center, Gandhinagar.

Emphasising that the administration is fully equipped to deal with the situation, he said, "Out of the state's eight districts, three — Bharuch, Chhotaudepur, and Narmada—have come out of the red alert zone. Surat, Tapi, Navsari, Dang, and Valsad are still on red alert."

As many as 27,896 civilians have been relocated to safer areas , Trivedi said.

Hardliners have their way over radicals' pics in Punjab

Hardliners protest with Bhindrawale pictures in Chandigarh

HARDLINERS are clawing back in Punjab. The latest example is some state-owned PRTC's about-turn over disallowing photographs of extremists such as Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale and Jagtar Singh Hawara on its buses. Earlier, the PRTC as well as the police had warned against the glorification of extremist leaders.

Bhindranwale was killed during Operation Blue Star in 1984 and Hawara is a convict in the assassination of CM Beant Singh in 1995 and is reportedly lodged in Tihar jail. The PRTC conceded the ground despite the written order of the state Additional Director General of Police (Law and Order) after protests from hardline organisations.

In the last few days, the authorities have had to remove 'Khalistan Zindabad' slogans written on the walls of several government buildings. The government recently banned YouTube channels such as 'SYL' and 'Rihaee' Punjabi songs.

Prof Kuldeep Singh of Guru Nank Dev University blamed bus drivers and conductors for pasting objectionable photographs. "The government step neither indicates revival nor rejection of militant ideology,'' he said. "It is well-known that elements settled abroad are sponsoring such slogans. These people don't have much acceptance in Punjab,'' said Prof Singh. Gurpatwant Singh Pannu of the banned Sikhs for Justice organization headquartered in New York has supported these incidents.

Hardliner Dal Khalsa as well as SAD (Amritsar) recently held protests in Jalandhar demanding the government by Tuesday withdraw its decision to remove photos of Khalistani leaders in PRTC buses. The PRTC on Monday passed orders that the corporation had taken back its July 1 order to remove the pictures and also conveyed it to the protestors.

Dal Khalsa spokesperson Paramjit Singh Mand said the outfit had received a letter from the PRTC conveying its revised order.

Earlier various Hindu leaders had written to the state police chief complaining about the sudden appearance of photos on PRTC buses in Sangrur, Bhatinda and Moga depots and some private buses in same areas. On June 28, Additional DGP (Law and Order) had written to all district police chiefs to take cognisance of the issue and warned that such photos should be removed.

Murmu visit: BJP to woo C'garh tribals

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

NDA'S presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu will tour tribal-dominated and Congress-ruled Chhattisgarh on July 15. Her visit has shifted the focus of political dynamics around the tribals that constitute around 31% of the state population.

The Opposition BJP, which continues to struggle after a poll debacle in the last state election, has set its eye on cashing on candidature of Murmu to win over tribal communities. "Her nomination and tour the state will revive the BJP's prospects and strengthen the party's outreach among the tribal voters in constituencies having a predominant adivasi (tribal) population," said a senior BJP leader. Chhattisgarh has 29 out of the 90 seats reserved for the Scheduled Tribes.

Nadda calls for BJP unity, Raje skips Rajasthan camp

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

RIFT in the Rajasthan BJP once again came to the fore as former chief minister Vasundhara Raje stayed away from the three-day training camp held for the party leaders and workers in Mount Abu. Raje's absence particularly stuck out as BJP president JP Nadda reached the event to address the cadre on the concluding day of the camp on Tuesday. Raje, meanwhile, had a meeting with Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Delhi.

Speaking at the event, Nadda urged the party cadre not to involve family members in politics, saying they should help the country and society and not their family members. "No person is bigger than the party. Only if the party is good, will you be good. Everyone's turn comes in politics. Keep the sentiment of 'us' in your minds, not the sentiment of 'me'," he said.

In the three-day camp, the party workers were apprised of many issues, including the need to strengthen the organisation, make the schemes of the central government reach the people, and target the state government over various problems.

Meanwhile, Raje stayed away from the event on all the three days. Her loyalists are keen that she should be projected as the party's choice for the Chief Minister's post before the Assembly elections next year.

FORMER Himachal Pradesh BJP president Khimi Ram Sharma on Tuesday joined the Congress party in the presence of Rajeev Shukla, party in-charge for the state, in Delhi, barely four months ahead of the Assembly elections. Ram has been a legislator from Kullu's Banjar district twice and has reportedly left the party as he was denied a ticket in the previous state polls.

Meanwhile, three senior Congress leaders in Uttarakhand joined the Aam Admi Party on Monday.

Disgruntled R P Raturi, Kamlesh Raman and Kuldeep Chaudhary joined AAP in presence of Delhi Deputy CM Manish Sisodia and others in Delhi.

75 kg heroin, worth ₹375 cr, seized from container at Mundra port

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA & HARPREET BAJWA
@Ahmedabad/Chandigarh

In a joint operation, the Gujarat Anti-Terrorist Squad (ATS), Punjab Police and central agencies recovered 75kg heroin, estimated to be worth over ₹375 crore, from a container near Mundra port in Kutch district.

The Director General of Police, Punjab, Gaurav Yadav said in Chandigarh on Tuesday that the contraband was kept concealed in a container carrying unstitched clothes. The container, which was loaded from Jebel Ali port in the UAE, was booked by an importer from Malerkotla, Punjab.

"Based on the tip-off from Punjab Police, the ATS searched the shipping container, which had arrived from Dubai and was kept at a container freight station outside the port. The ATS found nearly 75 kg of heroin concealed in the cargo," Gujarat ATS DIG Dipen Bhadran said. The consignment was opened in the presence of customs officials.

Gujarat DGP Ashish Bhatia said, "There was specific intelligence input that a few containers imported from Dubai by 'Green Forest General Trading' Company, carrying 'clothes' were lying at the Mundra container freight station for some time.

Since India is a leading textile exporter, the police got suspicious as to why should somebody import clothes in large quantities from Dubai. On inspection, the ATS personnel unearthed a large quantity of drugs from the containers."

The police got suspicious as the containers were filled only one-third, which seldom happens. "There were 540 textile rolls, out of which 64 carried heroin. To bypass the X-ray machine, plastic wrappers were used to conceal the drugs, while cellotapes were used to cover the plastic layer," Bhatia said.

WASHINGTON

JILL Biden apologised for saying Latinos are as unique as San Antonio breakfast tacos during a speech to the nation's largest Hispanic civil rights and advocacy organisation.

"The first lady apologises that her words conveyed anything but pure admiration and love for the Latino community," tweeted Jill Biden's spokesperson, Michael LaRosa.

The first lady flew to San Antonio on Monday to address the annual conference of UnidosUS, a Latino civil rights and advocacy group formerly known as the National Council of La Raza.

But her attempt to compliment Latino diversity didn't go over very well when she said that the community is "as distinct as the bodegas of the Bronx, as beautiful as the blossoms of Miami and as unique as the breakfast tacos here in San Antonio."

She also badly mispronounced "bodegas," small stores in urban areas typically specializing in Hispanic groceries.

The National Association of Hispanic Journalists and others registered their offense on social media.

"Using breakfast tacos to try to demonstrate the uniqueness of Latinos...demonstrates lack of cultural knowledge and sensitivity to the diversity of Latinos in the region," NAHJ said.

Last week, President Biden awarded the former longtime leader of UnidosUS, Raul Yzaguirre, the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest honor for a civilian. AP

Sri Lanka on edge as Gota expected to resign today

Nation's political parties step up efforts to form an all-party govt

COLOMBO

People queue up to enter the official residence of president Gotabaya Rajapaksa in Colombo, Sri Lanka on Tuesday | AP

SRI Lankans were on the edge on Tuesday as they waited whether embattled Gotabaya Rajapaksa will honour his offer to resign as president, amid reports that key members of the erstwhile powerful ruling family were attempting to flee in the face of massive public anger against them for mishandling the economy that has bankrupt the country.

Rajapaksa, whose whereabouts are not known since Friday, was blocked from departing Sri Lanka on Monday after refusing to join a public queue at the Colombo airport in order to have his passport checked by immigration, CNN reported, citing a high-ranking military source.

It said Rajapaksa's aides arrived at the airport with 15 passports belonging to the president and members of his family—including First Lady Ioma Rajapaksa—who had booked seats on a Sri Lankan Airlines flight leaving for Dubai at 6:25 p.m. local time on Monday, according to the military source.

Immigration officers declined to process the passports given to them by presidential aides, as Rajapaksa and his family were not physically present for cross checks and, eventually, the flight departed without the president and his family on board, the source added.

The President had informed both Speaker of Parliament Mahinda Yapa Abeywardena and Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe that he will resign on July 13, days after protesters stormed his official residence in rage over the island nation's worst economic crisis.

Speaker Abeywardena is expected to publicly announce President Rajapaksa's resignation to the nation on Wednesday.

The Sri Lanka Air Force on Tuesday rejected reports that President Rajapaksa was currently staying at a private house belonging to its chief Air Marshal Sudarshana Pathirana, describing it as 'propaganda' to tarnish the force's image.

Meanwhile, Sri Lanka's political parties have stepped up efforts to form an all-party government and subsequently elect a new President on July 20 to prevent the bankrupt nation sliding further into anarchy.

A meeting was held between the main opposition Samagi Jana Balavegaya (SJB) and former president Maithripala Sirisena's Sri Lanka Freedom Party (SLFP).

Parties have begun campaigning for the support of possible candidates. The SJB said they will campaign for the appointment of Sajith Premadasa as the interim President.

Premadasa said on Monday that his party was ready to lead the country at the presidential and prime ministerial level and develop the economy.

Independent MP Patali Champika Ranawaka on Tuesday said that he expects that President Rajapaksa will not play anymore "games" and will step down peacefully as expected tomorrow.

The Parliament will elect a new president within 30 days from one of its members, who will hold the office for the remaining two years. PTI

1.5 million people to get S$700 to battle inflation

Around 1.5 million Singaporeans will get S$700 in August through GSTV-Cash and GSTV-Cash Special Payment. This is a part of S$1.5 billion package which was announced by Lawrence Wong, Deputy PM in June to help the residents to cope with higher inflation. The Ministry of Finance also said that as part of the GST Voucher scheme, about 575,000 Singaporeans above aged 65 and above will also get S$450 into their CPF MediSave Account in August. As per CNA, the ministry noted that, "This is the fourth year that these eligible adults will receive their five-year MediSave top-up annually from 2019 to 2023 that was announced at Budget 2019." The ministry further said that people who were not able to register for the GSTV scheme earlier can do it now at the GSTV official website. The last date to register for it is April 30, 2023

SUNAK HITS THRESHOLD FOR PREMIER RACE

LONDON

FORMER UK Chancellor Rishi Sunak on Tuesday emerged as one of the early candidates to hit the threshold of 20 supporting Conservative Party members of Parliament for his nomination to compete for the post of leader and the next British prime minister, to be announced on September 5.

The 42-year-old British Indian MP for Richmond in Yorkshire maintains his lead in the race to replace Boris Johnson as nominations formally opened for the contest.

New Chancellor Nadhim Zahawi claims he has the required numbers too and others expected to run include: India-origin Attorney General Suella Braverman, Foreign Secretary Liz Truss, Nigerian-origin Kemi Badenoch, former Foreign Secretary Jeremy Hunt, Foreign Office Minister Rehman Chishti and former Health Secretary Sajid Javid.

On Monday, the 1922 Committee laid out the timetable for the leadership race and confirmed that the new PM will be elected on September 5 and address their first Prime Minister's Questions in Parliament on September 7. The first round of voting by Tory MPs is scheduled for Wednesday, when each candidate will require the backing of 30 colleagues or just under 10% of Tory MPs in total to progress to round two.

A second ballot on Thursday will narrow down the field further as candidates with the least votes keep getting knocked out. There is provision for further ballots next week if the race to get to the final two candidates does not conclude by the end of this week.

The deadline to narrow down the shortlist to just two remaining candidates is July 21, when the 1922 Committee Chair will also seek an assurance that both finalists will remain in the race to face the ballot.

On Tuesday, Sunak marked the official launch of his Conservative Party leadership bid with a speech in which he pledged a positive campaign, which will not participate in demonising outgoing Prime Minister Boris Johnson. PTI

UK HOME SECRETARY PRITI PATEL RULES HERSELF OUT OF BID

London: Priti Patel—widely expected to become another Indian-origin candidate in the race for the post of Conservative Party leader and the next British PM ruled out a bid, saying she was grateful for the encouragement but her focus remains on her current job as Home Secretary. "I will not be putting my name forward for the ballot of MPs," said the 50-year-old Gujarati-origin senior Cabinet minister, just hours before nominations closed. In a statement, Patel said she will not be standing for the Tory leadership. She is not backing any other candidates, but she does not rule out doing so later in the contest

Russian Prez Vladimir Putin set to visit Iran next week

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin will visit Iran next week, the Kremlin said Tuesday, a day after the US warned that Tehran could provide Moscow with drones for its action in Ukraine.

During a trip to Tehran next Tuesday, Putin will attend a trilateral meeting with the leaders of Iran and Turkey, the so-called Astana format of meetings for Syria-related talks, Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said.

Putin's visit to Iran will follow US President Joe Biden's trip to Israel and Saudi Arabia this week, where Iran's nuclear program and malign activities in the region will be a key subject of discussion.

Peskov told that on the visit to Tehran, Putin will have a meeting with Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

The White House said Monday that it believes that Russia is turning to Iran to provide it with hundreds of drones, including those capable of carrying weapons, for use in Ukraine.

US National Security Adviser Jake Sullivan said it was unclear whether Iran had already provided any of the vehicles to Russia, but said the US has information that indicates Iran is preparing to train Russian forces to use them as soon as this month. Iran long has worked on the development of drones, including so-called loitering munitions, the kamikaze drones like the Switchblade that the US has delivered to Ukraine. AP

THE CONSEQUENCES OF THE EURO'S FALL TO DOLLAR PARITY

The euro on Tuesday fell to parity with the dollar for the first time in nearly 20 years. Here are the consequences of the decline in the value of the single European currency from its once mighty position

ON INFLATION, PURCHASING POWER

Nearly half of all goods imported into the eurozone are invoiced in dollars, compared to less than 40% in euros, as per European statistics authority, Eurostat

Oil and gas are traditionally paid for in dollars, and the price of these two commodities has soared in recent months as a result of war in Ukraine

That means more euros are needed to pay for an equivalent amount of goods in dollars

FOR CENTRAL BANKS

By fuelling inflation, the euro's fall could push the European Central Bank to raise interest rates more rapidly. It is preparing to tighten borrowing costs for the first time in 11 years in July

ON GROWTH AND DEBT

The fall in the value of the euro makes prices outside the single currency area more competitive, theoretically providing a boost to the export of European goods

ON BUSINESSES

The effect of the decline in the value of the euro varies, depending on how reliant a business is on foreign trade and energy

In the case of local craftsmen, who are dependent on raw materials and energy, but export little, the weaker euro can lead to a veritable explosion in costs

The biggest winner from the euro's falling exchange rate are export-orientated manufacturing sectors like aerospace, automobile, luxury goods and chemicals industries

UK soldiers illegally killed 54 Af detainees

LONDON

A BBC investigation alleged Tuesday that British special forces killed dozens of detainees in suspicious circumstances during counter-insurgency operations in Afghanistan a decade ago.

Citing newly obtained military documents, the broadcaster alleged that one SAS unit may have unlawfully killed 54 people in the southern Helmand province in 2010 to 2011. It also alleged that the former head of UK special forces knew about the alleged killings, but didn't pass on the evidence to a murder inquiry.

The Ministry of Defense said the report jumps to unjustified conclusions from allegations that have already been fully investigated.

The ministry said two independent investigations have looked into the conduct of British forces in Afghanistan and that neither found sufficient evidence to prosecute. "Insinuating otherwise is irresponsible, incorrect and puts our brave Armed Forces personnel at risk both in the field and reputationally," it said in a statement.AP

EU grants aid to Ukraine worth 1 billion euros

BRUSSELS

Czech Republic's Finance Minister Zybnek Stanjura with Ireland's Finance Minister Paschal Donohoe during a meeting of EU finance ministers in Brussels | AP

EUROPEAN Union nations on Tuesday approved fresh aid for Ukraine as the country faces growing economic damage from Russia's invasion. Finance ministers from the 27-nation EU gave the go-ahead on Tuesday to 1 billion euros in loans to the Ukrainian government.

The sum brings to 2.2 billion euros the total amount of EU macro-financial assistance to Kyiv this year. An initial 1.2 billion-euro EU loan package got the green light from the bloc's finance chiefs days before Russia's full-scale February 24 attack.

The European Commission, the EU's executive arm, in mid-May proposed extra assistance of up to 9 billion euros to Ukraine. The planned 1 billion-euro payout is part of this initiative, which comes as Russia makes advances in eastern Ukraine and casualties mount on both sides.

"This will give Ukraine the necessary funds to cover urgent needs and ensure the operation of critical infrastructure," said Zbynek Stanjura, finance minister of the Czech Republic, which currently holds the EU's rotating presidency, in a statement.

Ukraine said last week that its post-war reconstruction would cost $750 billion. Meanwhile, the government in Kyiv is estimated to need around 5 billion euros a month to keep the economy afloat.

Also, Ukraine is getting an additional $1.7 billion in assistance from the US and the World Bank to pay the salaries of its health care workers and provide other essential services. The money coming from the US Agency for International Development, the Treasury Department and the World Bank is meant to alleviate the acute budget deficit caused by war, USAID said. AP

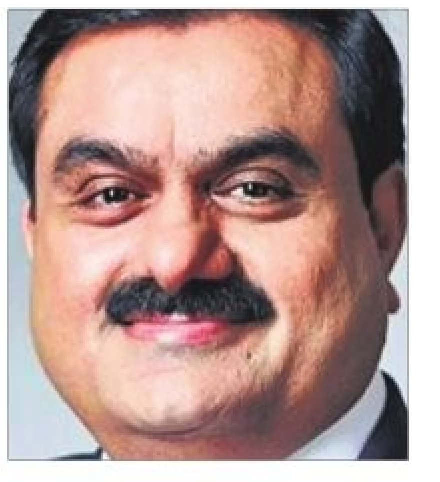
Adani's 5G bid opens door for telecom entry

While the Group could directly acquire spectrum, it chose auction route, triggering speculation about its intentions

RAKESH KUMAR @NewDelhi



BY choosing the auction route for 5G spectrum, the Adani Group has apparently signalled its future ambition to enter the telecom space, even though it denied reports of such a move.

While the Group could have directly acquired the spectrum, it chose the auction route, triggering speculation about its intentions.

Four companies including Adani Enterprises' arm Adani Data Networks have applied for participation in the upcoming 5G spectrum auctions, according to a list published by the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) on Tuesday. The entry of Adani Group in the spectrum race is going to make bids aggressive and many believe choosing the auction route is a signal of its future ambition of venturing into consumer mobility. "Applications have been received from the…applicants for participation in the 2022 auction for rights to use spectrum in 600 MHz, 700 MHz, 800 MHz, 900 MHz, 1800 MHz, 2100 MHz, 2300 MHz, 2500 MHz, 3300 MHz and 26 GHz Bands," reads the document of the Department of Telecom (DoT).

According to the 5G auction modalities, enterprises may request telecom service providers to establish an independent enterprise or may obtain the spectrum directly from the government and establish their own isolated Captive Wireless Private Network. However, to get direct 5G spectrum from the government, enterprises don't need any entry fee or licence fee. Adani Group chose a more expensive auction route instead, which signals its future ambition. "Adani group will spend a huge amount of money for 5G spectrum in the auction that could have been otherwise available at a very minimal cost through administrative allocation. Although the group has expressed no plans to enter the consumer mobility space, one can't deny that there will always be a possibility," said Charu Paliwal, Research analyst, Counterpoint Research.

DoT has issued a letter of intent on June 28, 2022, for grant of unified licence with authorisation of national and international for pan-India service, and internet service provider for the Gujarat circle. The third-largest telco Vodafone Idea said in its declaration to the department that it had a negative net worth of ₹80,918 crore as on March 31, 2022, with paid up capital of ₹32,119 crore.

SINGAPORE'S CRYPTO ASPIRATIONS SHAKEN BY THREE ARROWS COLLAPSE

Singapore's ambitious cryptocurrency sector, by some measures Asia-Pacific's largest, faces an uncertain future after the recent collapse of crypto fund Three Arrows Capital, a high-profile casualty of the global digital currency downturn. Crypto players in Southeast Asia's financial hub are bracing for further bankruptcies and legal tussles, and expect that regulators at the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS), whose welcoming approach helped to attract firms from China, India and elsewhere, may become less accommodating. Investment in Singapore's crypto and blockchain companies surged to $1.48 billion in 2021, according to KPMG, ten times the previous year and nearly half the Asia Pacific total for 2021. Regulators at the MAS have said they hope to encourage crypto-related services, a sharp contrast with China's ban, a crypto tax in India that has crippled trading, and incoming rules in Hong Kong restricting crypto investing to professionals.

JAPAN

US, JAPAN AGREE TO TACKLE CURRENCY, ECONOMIC IMPACT OF UKRAINE WAR

US Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen and Japanese Finance Minister Shunichi Suzuki agreed on Tuesday to work together to tackle rising prices of food and energy, as well as volatility in currency markets, exacerbated by Russia's war in Ukraine. They said the war had raised exchange rate volatility, which could pose adverse implications for economic and financial stability, and pledged to cooperate "as appropriate" on currency issues. Later on Tuesday, Yellen acknowledged the yen's substantial depreciation in recent weeks, but said the U.S. view remained that currency intervention was warranted only in "rare and exceptional circumstances". The Japanese currency, which hit a fresh 24-year low beyond 137 yen to the dollar on Monday, has given up about 16 per cent against the greenback this year. The two leaders also said they were united in their "strong condemnation of Russia's unprovoked, unjustifiable, and illegal war against Ukraine", adding they continued to increase Russia's cost of its war by imposing economic and financial sanctions.

TAIWAN

TAIWAN 'HAPPY' TO SEE CHIP INVESTMENT IN EU, WANTS DEEPER TIES

Taiwan would be "happy" to see its chip firms invest in the European Union but deeper ties with the bloc akin to Taipei's relations with Washington could help pave the way for that, a senior Taiwanese official told Reuters. The EU has been courting Taiwan, a major semiconductor producer, as one of the "like-minded" partners it would like to work with under the European Chips Act unveiled in February, as it tries to deal with a persistent global chip shortage. While Taiwan and the EU held-high level trade talks last month, less than a week after that meeting Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co Ltd (TSMC) said it had no concrete plans for factories in Europe, having flagged a year ago that it was in the early stages of reviewing a potential expansion into Germany. Taiwan Deputy Economy Minister Chen Chern-chyi, whose portfolio covers economic relations with Europe, said late Monday that while he could not speak on behalf of chip companies, he noted they have not said they are not going to Europe. In the face of sustained Chinese political and military pressure designed to force Taiwan to accept China's sovereignty claims, Taipei has been keen to bolster ties with other democracies even in the absence of formal diplomatic relations.

June CPI inflation eases to 7.01%, still below comfort level

MONIKA YADAV @NewDelhi

EVEN as the consumer price-based inflation (CPI) eased marginally to 7.01% as compared with 7.04% in the previous month, it is still above Reserve Bank of India's tolerance level of 6% and this is the straight sixth months, when retail inflation exceeded the upper band.

CPI-based or retail inflation had hit eight-year high in April at 7.8%. As per the RBI's latest forecast, average CPI inflation for July-September should be at 7.4%. The high inflation numbers have pushed the central bank to raise the interest rates twice.

According to the government data, core inflation plunged to 5.95%, less than 6% after a lag of three months. There was a slight fall in food inflation to 7.75% in June from 7.97% in May this year, majorly on account of sharp decline in oil and fat inflation. Food prices, which comprise nearly half of the inflation basket, is likely to remain on higher side owing to supply chain issues and surging crude oil price.

Commeting on the inflation numbers, Nikhil Gupta, chief economist at MOFSL group, said," India's June 2022 inflation came in at 7% YoY, similar to that in May 2022 and slightly lower than the consensus (our forecast of 7.3%). Lower inflation was primarily because of lower than expected food inflation (7.8% v/s our forecast of 8.8%)".

"Overall, there were no surprises in today's data. Thus, no major implications for August monetary policy. We expect 25 basis point hike next month. Lower than expected inflation for the second consecutive month, however, is a relief," Gupta said. Gupta expects headline inflation to stay at 7% in the second quarter of FY23 and ease towards 6.5% in quarter four.

HCL attrition rate rises to 23.8%; plans to hire over 10k freshers in Q2

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

IT firm HCL Technologies' attrition rate jumped to 23.8% as of June 30,2022, compared to 11.8% in the same quarter last year.

The firm expects this rate to continue in the second quarter too before stabilising from the second half of this fiscal. IT companies have been reporting over 18-20% attrition for a few quarters now. HCL on Tuesday posted a 2.4% increase in its net profit at ₹3,283 crore for the first quarter ended June 2022. Its net profit in the year-ago period was Rs 3,205 crore.

Its revenue from operations grew 17% in the first quarter at ₹23,464 crore, compared to ₹20,068 crore in the same quarter last year. The company added 6,023 freshers during the first quarter, and it plans to onboard 10,400 freshers in the second quarter. HCL Technologies' Chief Human Resources Officer Apparao VV said that overall, the company will be recruiting 30,000-35,000 freshers in FY23. It has also increased its headcount in tier-2 and 3 centres such as Madurai, Lucknow and Vijayawada. The company's present headcount is 2,10,966.

"Our supply chain is distributed and new talent markets will be explored," he said, adding that at present, 12-15% of its workforce are working from the office. Talking about the company's Q1 performance, HCL Technologies CEO and MD C Vijayakumar said, "Our services business continues to have robust growth momentum, growing at 19% Y-o-Y in constant currency, driven by our digital engineering and digital application services with cloud adoption being a horizontal theme across all services and verticals."

HCL's new bookings grew 23.4% Y-o-Y and our pipeline remains near record high, he added. The IT company's operating margin stood at 17%, and EBITDA margin at 21.2%.

Industrial output grows 19.6% in May, as against 7.1% in April

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @NewDelhi

THE Index of Industrial Production (IIP) grew sharply to 19.6% in May as compared with 7.1% in April, the National Statistical Office data showed on Tuesday.

Manufacturing sector's output recorded a growth of 20.6% in May this year. In the same month mining output jumped 10.9%, while power generation grew by 23.5%.

IIP had risen by 27.6% in May last year owing to low base effect.

Capital goods output witnessed a growth of 54% in May 2022 as compared with a jump of 74.9% in the previous year. The consumer durables segment surged by 58.5% as against a growth of 80.4% last year. Meanwhile, primary goods segment, which comprises nearly 34% of the index, grew by 17.7% in May as compared to 15.8% growth during last year. Also, the consumer non-durable segment surged by 0.9% in May as against a growth of 0.2% in the same month last year. Nikhil Gupta, Chief Economist, MOFSL group said, "IIP grew 19.6% YoY in May'22, slower than Bloomberg consensus of 20.7% (and our forecast of 24.9%). The base effect suggests a lot of noise in the data." He said IIP could grow in double-digit in Jun'22, before easing sharply in second quarter of current fiscal.

Rupee at new low as dollar surges to 20-year high

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

RUPEE closed at a record low of 79.59, down 14 paise from its previous close, as the dollar index touched a 20-year high of 108.56 intra-day Tuesday and FIIs sold shares worth a provisional ₹1,566 crore.

Before closing , the local unit fell to an intraday low of 79.66 to the greenback whose strength has brought the euro to parity with the dollar amid fears of a recession in Europe driven by rising gas prices and the ongoing war . The rising prices could force the ECB to raise its policy rate even as Europe stares at a potential recession .

Back in the US itself , financial market analysts expect the Fed rate setting body to raise the Fed Funds Rate by another 75 bps later this month after it raised the rate by three quarters of a percentage point in June , taking it to 1.5-1.75% to tame decadal high retail price inflation.

The rate increases in US are strengthening the dollar, in turn weakening Emerging Market currencies like the rupee as foreign portfolio investors pull out funds from riskier EM shares and bonds to invest back in the safer USD.

On Tuesday , FPIs sold a provisional Rs 1566 crore worth of shares as the dollar index advanced to a fresh high , dragging down benchmark indices such as the Nifty and Sensex by almost a percent . So far this fiscal year (April - July 11) , FIIs have sold shares worth a whopping Rs 1.1 lakh crore . The start to the Q1 earnings on Friday was marred by TCS' tepid showing on EBIT margin versus Street expectations amid rising supply side pressures and attrition . The earnings will set the tone for markets, going forward.

The bulls will try and protect 16000, with the Nifty closing at 16058.3 on Tuesday . A breach of the support could witness the market potentially testing 15700 this week . The key resistance is at 16200 for the week .

"Technically, on daily charts, the index has formed a small bearish candle and a lower high formation on intraday charts which supports further weakness from the current levels," said Shrikant Chouhan, equity research head (retail), Kotak Securities. "For the traders now, below 16150/54200 the short term texture is weak. Below which, the index could retest the level of 16000-15950/53700-53500. On the flip side, if the index succeeds to trade above 16150/54200 then it could touch the level of 16225-16250/54500-54600."

Staffing industry adds 2.27L formal workforce in FY22, 22% up from FY21

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @NewDelhi

STAFFING industry has added 2.27 lakh formal workforce in FY22, which is 21.9% higher than the preceding year, flexi-staffing industry body Indian Staffing Federation (ISF) said in its annual report on Tuesday.

It said FMCG, e-commerce, manufacturing, healthcare, retail, logistics, banking and energy drove demand for general staffing (excluding IT and professional services). The report also notes that demand for new employees doubled in the IT staffing industry, with a sharp jump of 30.7% in FY2022 as against 14.1% growth in FY2021. "The demand for IT workforce was driven due to digital adoption across sectors. FY2023 trends show Fintech, IT- Infra, IT/ ITeS are promising impact sectors that are expected to continue with the staffing demand," ISF said. The report notes that women's participation in flexi workforce continued at 27% in FY2022, same as FY2021, while the majority of jobs for flexi staff moved from outdoor sales to essential delivery services. Millennials in the age group of 25-30 years have continued to be the highest participants at over 40% of the workforce. "Majority participation in the flexi working population is shifting to 31-45 years age bracket. FY2022 saw over 10% growth in flexi work as against other formats of employment," it adds. Lohit Bhatia, President, Indian Staffing Federation says, "Even as inflationary fears and geopolitical tensions loom large, early indicators for FY2023 and the industry's preparations for the festive season show hiring is expected to remain elevated over the next three quarters."

Brent below $100 on firm dollar, weak demand

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @NewDelhi

BRENT CRUDE price fell below $100 on Tuesday as fresh COVID-19 curbs in China, the world's biggest crude importer, and fears of a global economic slowdown weighed on the fuel demand outlook.

Brent Crude Futures, a major benchmark for oil price worldwide, 7.1%, at $99.48 a barrel by 11:04 a.m. ET, while the US West Texas Intermediate crude faell 7.3% to $96.42. "Oil prices fell sharply on Tuesday on a strong dollar, demand-sapping COVID-19 curbs in top crude importer China and fears of a global economic slowdown. Dollar demand and fear of low energy demand due to a new variant of covid-19 in China put pressure on crude oil prices. We are expecting Brent crude may test $98 levels and WTI may test $92 per barrel levels very soon," said Anuj Gupta, VP Research, IIFL Securities.

The oil price skirted in the global market for various reasons including recession fears in recent weeks as a combination of inflation and rising interest rates thrash the US economy. The biggest crude importer, China, has imposed lockdown restrictions in its six cities to curb the Covid-19 infection from spreading, and oil is paying the price for it as restrictions tear away at demand. On the supply side, with Russia curtailing gas to parts of Europe, it's wiped out sense of optimism about the economic outlook.

GST RATES

MSMEs urge Centre to address disparities in GST

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Chennai

EVEN as the Centre celebrates the 5th anniversary of goods and services tax (GST) rollout, micro and small-scale industries in Tamil Nadu urge the government to address discrepancies in the tax structure.

Auto-component manufacturers in the Hosur region said they're levied 18-28% GST as automobiles come under luxury products. How a small unit with three labourers producing spare parts is taxed under luxury item, asks Gnanasekaran of Hosur Small and Tiny Industries Association (Hostia).

"There is a mismatch between the tax rates of our raw materials and our finished products, making it difficult for us to claim an input tax credit (ITC). We buy raw materials at 18% and sell our products at 28%. In some cases, we get the additional 10% of the taxes after 90 days till then we have to get money from banks and money lenders. This is increasing our cost up to ₹50- 80 lakhs per year," he said. They said even after multiple representations to Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, the issue is not resolved. The Hosur region has nearly 3,000 MSMEs involved in auto component production. They supply components for TVS and the Ashok Leyland, among others.

Industry representatives request the government for monthly filing and quarterly payment of GST for small and micro industries. "This would reduce the compliance burden and improve the financials of the SMEs," said S Vasudevan, vice-president (Chennai region) of Tamil Nadu Small and Tiny Industries Association (TANSTIA).

Healthcare sector wants GST cut

HEALTHCARE providers in the state say that imposition of GST would be difficult to implement and the tax burden will increase cost of healthcare. Dr Ilankumaran Kaliamoorthy chief executive officer of Rela Hospital, said hospitals can't avail of input tax credit (ITC) for purchase of drugs, using housekeeping and security services for the hospital so it would be passed on to the patients. "In tier- 2 and tier- 3 cities the cost of the rooms would be probably less than ₹5,000 but in cities like Chennai where the cost of living is high, it will impact the urban population more," he said. The industry has raised demand before the government to revisit the tax structure stating that double taxation would affect the very reason GST was introduced. Recently, the GST Council has decided to impose 5% GST on hospital beds with rents above ₹5,000 a day without ITC. ENS

RBI fines Ola Financial ₹1.67 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Tuesday imposed a penalty of ₹1.67 crore on Ola Financial Services for non-compliance with certain provisions.

It said the action is based on deficiencies in regulatory compliance and it is not intended to pronounce upon the validity of any transaction or agreement entered by the entity with its customers.

It offers lending for personal loans, two-wheelers and four-wheelers, among others. Last year, the central bank came up with master directors on Prepaid Payment Instruments (PPI). "The penalty has been imposed in exercise of powers vested in RBI under Section 30 of the Payment and Settlement Systems Act, 2007," the RBI said in a statement.

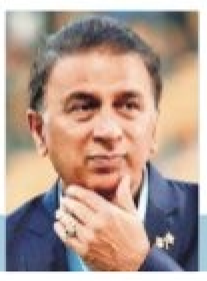
Gavaskar slams senior players for frequent breaks



Sunil Gavaskar has questioned the commitment of the senior India players, saying he "doesn't agree" with cricketers skipping international series but playing the IPL without a break. Gavaskar's remarks came after Virat Kohli, Rohit Sharma, Jasprit Bumrah, Hardik Pandya and Rishabh Pant were rested for the upcoming ODI series against the WI.

THE GOLD STANDARD: OREGON HERE THEY COME

With the World Athletics Championships beginning on Friday, a look at some of the international stars who could sizzle in Oregon.

ARMAND DUPLANTIS

Men | Pole vault

Qualifying: July 22

Final: July 24

Unbeaten in 2022 and fresh from setting a new outdoor world record, the Swede is one of the most recognisable stars in the sport today. Still only 22, he's years from achieving his peak. In Oregon, he can complete the Olympic-World double.

FRED KERLEY

Men | 100, 200m

Qualifying: July 15, 18, 19

Final: July 16, 21

The fastest man in the world this year, the US athlete can easily win a treble of gold (including the relay). In 2022 alone, he has gone under 10 seconds seven times. In a rich vein of form, there aren't many capable of challenging him.

SYDNEY McLAUGHLIN

Women | 400mH

Qualifying July 19, 20

Final: July 22

The hurdler is on a league of her own. The Olympic champion is primed to repeat her feat, including a possible attack of her own world record. Just 22, she is another among a clutch of athletes hoping to the Olympics-World double.

YAROSLAVA MAHUCHIKH

Women | High jump

Qualifying: July 16

Final: July 19

The Ukrainian will be a sentimental favourite for many considering what the country has gone through. She's also very, very good, one among many young athletes who have enjoyed a stellar year. In 2022, she won the world indoors. She has the opportunity to hold both titles.

MITLIADIS TENTAGLOU

Men | Long jump

Qualifying: July 15

Final: July 16

The Greek would like to add this missing sparkling gold to the already beaming coffers. The 24-year-old, who has won gold in Olympics, World indoor and European outdoor and indoor, would want to add this missing Worlds yellow metal

RYAN CROUSER

Men | Shot put

Qualifying: July 15

Final: July 17

No man has come to define their sport like the 29-year-old has. Unbeaten in 25 events stretching back to 2019, he's odds on to win the gold. That's ludicrous considering the field which is loaded with some modern greats.

PACERS SHINE UNDER GLOOM

Bumrah's career best (6/19) shuts England to 110 as India coast home to 10-wicket victory

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

IT is a strange English summer. Right through the four Tests so far — three against New Zealand and one against India — the pitches have been predominantly batting friendly so much so that the hosts successfully chased targets of over 270 in all four matches. And the pattern continued in T20Is where placid pitches made for high-scoring games.

Everyone expected nothing less in the ODIs. Ever since England started taking ODIs as a format where batters are supposed to call the shots, the pitches have been amongst the flattest in the world. Since the 2015 World Cup, there are 82 instances of teams scoring 300 or more in ODIs, easily the most for any host country.

However at the Oval, there was something totally different. The sell-out crowd which had come looking for a long day under the sun, instead was greeted to a pitch with good grass cover – the most seen in the English summer – with typical gloomy conditions for company. And when Rohit Sharma won the toss, the decision to field first was a no brainer, especially when India had Jasprit Bumrah and Mohammed Shami in the ranks to exploit the conditions.

And the two literally ended the game in eight overs and before India could make a first change. On such conditions all it needs for pacers is to get their line and length right and the two didn't waste any time what so ever. Every time they ran in, they landed the ball in areas which allowed the ball to move both ways. The only way the batters would score runs was if the pacers offered width to free their arms or bowled too full or short.

Over the last few years, India's preferences have been to chase in ODIs and while most of it is down to their batters being more at comfort in pursuit of a target rather than setting one, they have been able to do it thanks to their bowlers. And key to it has been the fact that their bowlers have ensured teams who are asked to bat first don't run away with the game.

Take Shami and Bumrah for instance. In matches where India won the toss and asked the opponents to bat first, the two have picked up 55 and 45 wickets respectively. And it also happens to be the highest for them. And in matches where India were made to bowl first, they still accounted for 42 and 27 wickets, which is way better than how they have performed while defending a target (irrespective of the toss outcome).

With Bhuvneshwar Kumar no longer in the ODI mix — a key component of India's attack and their man Friday to pick up wickets with the new ball — Bumrah and Shami have a job at hand. The last time the two played an ODI and India didn't field Kumar in the XI, they had two forgettable outings in Australia. With no wickets to show off the new ball and openers playing them out, it resulted in Bumrah conceding over 70 runs in successive matches and Shami giving away 59 and 73.

In these conditions, the two were not going to throw away any freebies and they ran through the English top-order, sending back Jason Roy, Joe Root, Ben Stokes and Liam Livingstone for four ducks inside eight overs. And from there on the hosts managed only 110 with Bumrah returning his best figures of 6/19. His first spell read 5-2-9-4 with five of those wides.

They won't get such days often, but for an attack that is beginning to move away from Kumar, Tuesday was a perfect confidence booster.

Jasprit Bumrah picked up four wickets in his first spell at the Oval on Tuesday | AP

Boom Boom Bumrah

Under overcast conditions and some help on a greenish surface, Jasprit Bumrah made the batters his bunny in an opening burst that will be remembered for years. A look at it...

ROY B BUMRAH 0 (5)

After noticing the prodigious moment and Roy's struggles in getting bat on ball, the pacer lands one further wide off the off stump. With the ball angling in always, it takes a thick inside edge before disturbing the leg stump

ROOT C PANT B BUMRAH 0 (2)

A wicket that wouldn't be out of place on the first morning of a Test in South Africa. Gets disconcerting bounce off the surface and Root, who seldom leaves, follows. The kick off the surface finds a thin edge to the wicket-keeper.

BAIRSTOW C PANT B BUMRAH 7 (20)

Another dismissal as a result of what happened previously. After a lovely outswinger, Bumrah gets one to hold its line. Bairstow just hangs his bat unsure of what the ball, which is behaving like a grenade now, is about to do. It takes the edge and Pant does the rest.

LIVINGSTONE B BUMRAH 0 (8)

The ball moves devilishly and Livingstone, who does have the tendency to move across his stumps, does so. The batter misses the ball completely and it crashes into the leg-stump. Second time that Bumrah has bowled Livingstone in the white-ball series.

Joshna wants to better singles record at Birmingham Games

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

THE Indian squash team seems to be in fine fettle. Vibes are positive and the training has been quite good for the team. As they prepare for the Commonwealth Games in Birmingham later in the month, country's top woman player Joshna Chinappa talks about that's good about the team and why it would return with some good show. And course, a few medals.

Even the Squash Rackets Federation of India (SRFI), as always, is contributing its bit to make it easy for the players. They have announced a set of initiatives as part of the HCP Squash Podium Program to improve the ecosystem of the sport in the country. The high performance camp too is one such step and Joshna was upbeat about it as she talked about India's chances at the CWG.

She felt that she along with Suarav Ghosal are expected to do well. "This is one of the best India teams," said the 35-year-old. "Saurav and I have been playing on the pro-tours for a number of years. We are still in the top-20 in the world. We (India) definitely have a great chance of winning a medal in doubles. This time, we are trying to push for a medal in singles as well.''

The world No 17 is pleased with the preparations and felt the camp, conducted by SRFI, before the Games will help players to chisel out rough edges.

"First of all, it is great to have someone like Greg (Gregory Gaultier) here. He is a former world champion. He is a former World No.1. He still plays at an unbelievably high level. He is one of the best trainers we have got in a very long time. His expertise and knowledge will definitely boost us. Sebastian (Bonmalais) plays on the pro-tour. It is nice to have fresh inputs and fresh minds. The major part of our training was done in the last few months. As you get closer to the tournament, it is about sharpening the skills and playing a lot of matches. It has been great to share the court with both of them."

Joshna looks forward to having a great pairing with Dipika in England too. "To be honest, she (Dipika Pallikal Karthik) has had one of the greatest comebacks," said Joshna. "When we started playing after a gap of three years, I was quite surprised that she was playing so well. I expected her to be a little rusty. She has been putting in a lot of effort into her training. We are a very strong team. Hopefully, we can show that on court. Dipika and I trained on Tuesday morning. In the last few months, we tried to train at least three times a week," insisted Joshna.

"England are a solid team. New Zealand too are really good. Then there are teams like Malaysia and South Africa. We have to keep an eye out for them," she said. "I was prepared to play both (CWG and Asian Games). It is just unfortunate that it (Asian Games) will not happen this year. It is nice to have a bigger break to get fitter and stronger. I have always looked at myself as a singles player first. Of course, I have had wonderful success with Dipika in doubles as well. But, I always train like a singles player. I am a singles player for the majority of my career. This Commonwealth Games, I am definitely looking forward to doing much better in singles too,'' she said.

Ganguly champion at Biel Chess

BEIL (SWITZERLAND): Indian Grandmaster Surya Sekhar Ganguly on Tuesday emerged winner in the Fischer Random event at Biel Chess Festival here with compatriot S P Sethuraman finishing in second place. The 39-year old Kolkata GM scored 6.5 points from 7 rounds to take the top prize ahead of Sethuraman (5.5 points) and French Woman Grandmaster Vera Nebolsina (5.5 points).

Anahat, 14, in CWG squash team

NEW DELHI: Anahat Singh, all of 14, was included in India's squash squad for the Commonwealth Games in Birmingham. Others who will be making their CWG debut, include Velavan Senthilkumar and Abhay Singh, who will feature in the men's doubles event. Saurav Ghosal, Joshna Chinappa and Dipika Pallikal are also in the squad.

Camp for shuttlers in Hyderabad

NEW DELHI: The Commonwealth Games-bound Indian shuttlers will take part in a week-long practice camp in Hyderabad from July 18, the Badminton Association of India (BAI) said on Tuesday. The strong 10-member Indian contingent will depart for CWG on July 25. Two-time Olympics medallist PV Sindhu will lead the Indian women's side while K Srikanth leads the men's tema.

Harman, Smriti climb in ICC rankings

DUBAI: Indian women's team captain Harmanpreet Kaur climbed one place to 13th while her deputy Smriti Mandhana was placed ninth in the ICC Women's ODI rankings released on Tuesday. Among the bowlers, Rajeshwari Gayakwad was up three places to joint-ninth while Meghna Singh (up four places to 43rd).

PREPARATION TIME

Sakshi, 2 freestyle wrestlers to compete in Tunisia ahead of CWG

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

ONLY three wrestlers out of 12 selected for the upcoming 2022 Commonwealth Games will take part in the Zouhaier Sghaier (Ranking Series) slated in Tunis, Tunisia from July 14-17. The wrestlers, who will compete in the event are 2016 Rio Olympic bronze medallist Sakshi Malik (62kg), Deepak (97kg) and Mohit Grewal (125kg).

Others, except for Bajrang Punia (65kg) and Deepak Punia (86kg), have preferred to train in the country for the Birmingham event scheduled from July 28 to August 8. Bajrang and Deepak had decided to train at the Michigan University in the USA ahead of the CWG.

"Sakshi along with the second line of wrestlers will compete in Tunisia. They will come back to the country after the event and will leave for Birmingham. The wrestling competitions at the CWG are on August 5 and 6 so we are expecting to reach there at least three-four days before the commencement of the bouts," Jitender Yadav, women's team head coach, told this daily.

The Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) planned a competition-cum-exposure trip for the selected grapplers ahead of the CWG but the visa process meant it has to skip the events including the Matteo Pellicone Ranking Series in Rome, Italy from June 22-25 and the Grand Prix of Spain in Madrid from July 8-10. The Tunisia Ranking Series was the last event planned for the wrestlers ahead of the CWG. They were also supposed to train in Poland.

"The plan to train in Poland has been dropped," added the coach. Given the situation, the female wrestlers will continue to train at the SAI Centre in Lucknow while their male counterparts will camp at the SAI Centre in Sonepat.

Vinesh begins training

Star wrestler Vinesh Phogat, who sustained a chin injury during the training on July 1, has returned to training. "Yes, she has started training," confirmed Yadav.

Mo Farah reveals he was trafficked as a child

AP @London

FOUR-TIME Olympic champion Mo Farah says he was illegally brought to the UK as a young boy and forced to care for other children before he escaped a life of servitude through running.

In a new documentary, Farah says his real name is Hussein Abdi Kahin and that he was taken from the East African nation of Djibouti. The film that tells the story of his being trafficked, was produced by the BBC and Red Bull Studios, and the BBC is scheduled to broadcast it Wednesday.

The athlete says he was 8 or 9 years old when a woman he didn't know brought him to Britain using fake travel documents that included his picture alongside the name Mohammed Farah, the BBC reported. The woman took him to an apartment in west London where he was forced to care for her children, Farah said. He wasn't allowed to go to school until he was 12.

"I wasn't treated as part of the family'," Farah says in the documentary.

"If I wanted food in my mouth, my job was to look after those kids, shower them, cook for them, clean for them." Farah, who represented Britain at three Olympic Games, won gold medals in the 5,000- and 10,000-metre runs at both the 2012 London Olympics and the 2016 Games in Rio de Janeiro.

He previously said he had moved to Britain with his parents as a refugee from Somalia. But in the documentary, he says his parents never were in the UK. His father was killed by stray gunfire during unrest in Somalia when Farah was 4 years old, according to the film. His mother and two brothers live on the family farm in Somaliland, a breakaway region of Somalia that is not internationally recognized.

Farah says his fortunes changed when he was finally allowed to attend school. A teacher who was interviewed for the documentary recalled a 12-year-old boy who appeared "unkempt and uncared for," was 'emotionally and culturally alienated' and spoke little English.

But he began to blossom on the track and eventually told his story to a physical education instructor. The teacher contacted local officials, who arranged for a Somali family to take him in as a foster child. "I still missed my real family, but from that moment everything got better," Farah said. "I felt like a lot of stuff was lifted off my shoulders, and I felt like me." Farah said he had feared he would be deported if he spoke about his childhood experiences. He decided to tell his story to publicize and challenge people's perceptions of human trafficking, he said.

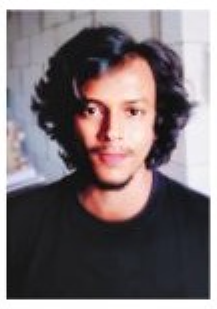
RHYTHMS AND RIFFS

City-based singer Frizzell D'Souza collaborates with guitarist-songwriter Pratik Tushar, on a new song Ill at Ease, which speaks about the struggles of anxiety

MONIKA MONALISA

WHAT sounds more perfect this monsoon season than sitting on your balcony, headphones on, watching the rain fall? If you need more additions to your monsoon playlist, Frizzell D'Souza and Pratik Tushar's latest single, Ill at Ease, should be on top of your list. This number features riffs and solos by Tushar, which are complemented by D'Souza's moody vocals, making it the perfect tune to groove to on a gloomy evening.



The song, which was written during the pandemic, speaks about anxiety and how a person deals with overthinking and feelings of nervousness. It shows two people, one who is new to anxiety, and the second, who is comforting the person. While Tushar feels that it was D'souza's voice that brought his words to life, city-based singer D'Souza feels that the track is the songwriter's baby all the way. "The song speaks volumes about anxiety and what someone goes through when they are dealing with it. It has a soothing and cozy vibe to it. Pratik has captured it beautifully in the song," says D'Souza, who promptly agreed to collaborate on the song when Tushar approached her.

Tushar, who hails from Jharkhand, mentions that this song was a big step for him because he changed the composing process that he's followed in the past. "Usually, I would compose the music first and then figure out the lyrics, since music is important for me... it sets the groove. But this time, I wrote the lyrics first and then played certain chords while jamming," explains Tushar.

A self-taught musician, Tushar started playing the guitar when he was 13-14 years old, and some of the first chords he strummed were old-school blues. To understand percussion better, he learnt the tabla for 5 years which gave him a sense of beat. However, in this song, he didn't want to 'overdo' the instrumentals. "I wanted to keep the vibe low so I went with the guitar, basic drums, and bass. When we came out with the song, we wanted to end with the rock part of it," says Tushar. Even with multiple elements in the song, he focused on the flow. "The song starts in a low tone and moves on to be groovy. Then, there's a break after which comes the rock part," adds Tushar, who created some of the artwork while recording the song, which has been used in the video.

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE on Thursday.

QUESTIONS

① This historic monument has Persian inscription on a stone plaque at its entrance, which means 'Abode of Happiness and Envy of Heaven.' The portion of the heritage monument that exists today, is salvaged and restored to its former glory by the Archeological Survey of India, and is one of the major tourist attractions in Bengaluru. Which monument is this?

② 'Government work is God's work' and its Kannada version 'Sarkarada kelasa Devara kelasa' is inscribed on the entablature of the frontal façade of one of the iconic modern architectural masterpieces in Bengaluru. While Kengal Hanumanthaiah, the former chief minister of Karnataka, who conceptualised and built this structure called it 'People's Palace', Rashtra Kavi Kuvempu termed it 'Poetry in Stone'. Name this magnificent structure conceived as a 'temple of democracy' built in the Neo-Dravidian style of architecture.

③ 'Attara Kacheri' means 'Eighteen Offices'. It was Chikkadevaraja Wodeyar in 1701, who initiated the idea of creating 18 departments for state governance, inspired by Aurangzeb's style of administration. A well-known heritage building called 'Bowring's Attara Kacheri', initially housed the administrative offices before shifting to Vidhana Soudha. What is housed at this building today?

AN 'UNFROGETTABLE' EXPERIENCE

Dheeraj Aithal and Pradeep Hegde's film delves into the story of frogs, a decreasing species which is killed every day in road accidents

MADHUMITA RAJGOPAL

WHAT began as a documentary of the changing landscapes in the Western Ghats, evolved into something that could potentially save frogs. The misconception is that a lot of frogs are alive, however, the unfortunate reality is that the number of frogs in India decreases every day, because of negligent driving, modernisation, and the illegal frog trade.

"Frogs are the main aspect of the monsoon and in some sense, they are the representation of monsoons," says Pradeep Hegde, co-director of the film, The Last Hop(e).

The film garnered a range of audiences during its screening at Ranga Shankara recently. Hegde says, "We heard about the illegal frog trade when we were trying to film bullfrogs changing colour…a lot of these frogs are caught from Karnataka and illegally traded to Goa for tourists, as a delicacy. We started looking for people who work towards helping them, and that's how we heard about Clinton."

During our last day of filming, we came across the phenomenon of how 35 frogs get killed on the road due to speeding. I think that sequence also moved people who watched it in the screenings

Dheeraj Aithal, filmmaker

Dheeraj Aithal and Pradeep Hegde

Clinton Vaz and C R Naik, who are featured in the film, also work towards saving frogs by teaching students about them. This, the directors say, inspired them to create this story and put it out there for people to watch. "We thought that this is a story that needs to be told. It is so inspiring that it inspired us also," says Hegde. Dheeraj Aithal adds, "Only after three monsoon sessions, during our last day of filming, did we come across this phenomenon [how 35 frogs get killed on the road due to speeding]. When you're driving a car at a speed of 70-80 km/h, most people will not see the frogs and end up running across black frogs on the road. That sequence moved people who watched it in the screenings."

Initially, the three-year-long 'passion project' was completely self-funded, but when they realised that having equipment of their own would be more helpful, they started crowdfunding.

Hegde says, "When you hear about wildlife films, it is generally about tigers and elephants. We are very thankful to those who believed in our story about a little frog and funded the film…this gave us a lot of confidence and strength to go forward. We have given the facts and shown what is happening. It is for the viewers to decide what to do with it."

Mulam, an event organised by the Shambhavi School of Dance celebrates the guru-shishya parampara unique to India on July 15 at A D A Rangamandira. The topic of the event addresses the many concerns that surface between a guru and a shishya from both perspectives. The people attending it include Shama Bhate, Aruna Mohanty and Sridevi Ajai Thirumalai representing the guru community and Mithun Shyam, Sarita Mishra and Vasanth Kiran representing the shishya (student) community. The discussion will be followed by Bharatanatyam, Odissi, Kuchipudi and Kathak dance performances. Milam aims to focus on the roots and comes with the purpose of upholding the guru-shishya parampara.

Corona Bee Game campaign to spread awareness on the need to get fully jabbed against Covid

VAX GETS GAMING 'BOOSTER SHOT'

SHAINU MOHAN

HOW about using a digital game to counter the many challenges surrounding Covid vaccination and mitigate vaccine hesitancy among the public? Corona Bee Game, which was developed by a team of health communication researchers and mass communication faculty members of various institutions in India was recently launched. Corona Bee Game, available in multiple regional languages, helps challenge common myths, misconceptions and misinformation and inform 'players' how and where to get vaccinated.

Manju Rose Mathews, a health communication researcher at Amrita University and Head of Media Studies at Christ Nagar College Trivandrum who coordinated the game's development in various Indian languages, says Corona Bee Game is fun, informative, and effective.

"Covid cases are rising again after an interval and vaccine hesitancy is a growing concern in India. Reports say millions of people in the country have skipped the second dose. This game is very interactive, has competitions and imparts more knowledge about the pandemic and the importance of vaccines. Around 70 per cent of students on our campus have been vaccinated and our target is to achieve a cent per cent inoculation. With the help of the National Service Scheme units, we are planning to popularise the game and launch similar campaigns across the state," says Mathews.

"The UK-based company had launched a similar game when there was a flu outbreak and it was found to be very effective. The company came up with this game, and launched it in India as we are struggling to achieve 100 per cent vaccination. It is developed as a tool which not only entertains the users but also educates and encourages them to get the vaccine," says Mathews.

The game was developed by UK-based Focus Games, which has expertise in developing healthcare games, globally. "We are doing further research on the effectiveness of the game and also trying to get funding from the World Health Organisation," says Mathews.

QUICK FIX

CHICKEN AND CABBAGE STIR FRY

Contributed by: Bhim Singh Shekhawat, New Delhi

INGREDIENTS

- Cabbage: 1 cup (chopped into strips or finely chopped)
- Chicken breast: 200 g
- Garlic powder: 1 tsp
- Onion powder: 1 tsp
- Soya sauce: 1 tbsp
- Chilli powder: 1 tsp
- Oil: As needed
- Salt: To taste

METHOD

- Sauté cabbage in oil till it starts to get soft.
- Now, add chilli powder and cook till the raw smell disappears.
- Add the chicken breast along with garlic and onion powders.
- Sauté till everything is combined.
- Add soya sauce and cook till everything comes together. Then, add a little bit of salt if you want.
- Serve with buttered bread. It works great as a quick daytime meal.

FIT BIT

BROKEN WINGS POSE

This is a prone pose for beginners that targets the opening of the hips and the pectoral muscles that connect the front walls of the chest to the upper arms and shoulders. This is a restorative yoga pose that helps in stretching the connective tissues of the shoulders and hips. Students should remain at ease in this pose, bringing their awareness to their breath. Learning to surrender to the pose is an important aspect of Yin Yoga, which further helps to connect to one's thoughts.

STEPS

- From Parsva Savasana (Side Lying Corpse Pose), raise the leg that has weak muscles and bring it close to your chest.
- Now, inhale and bend your knees and stretch the other leg moving to the belly. Place the bent leg's thighs on the floor and bring it up towards you and hold the thighs, pressing it closer towards you.
- Use this Broken Wings Pose to connect to your breathing as you stay for 12 breaths focusing on stretching while healing with the deeper tendons and tissues.
- Healing the tendons and tissues are part of restorative and Yin Yoga.
- Changing and moving to the other side of the hips is not required if there are no issues with the hips.
- Release the pose and relax in Savasana.

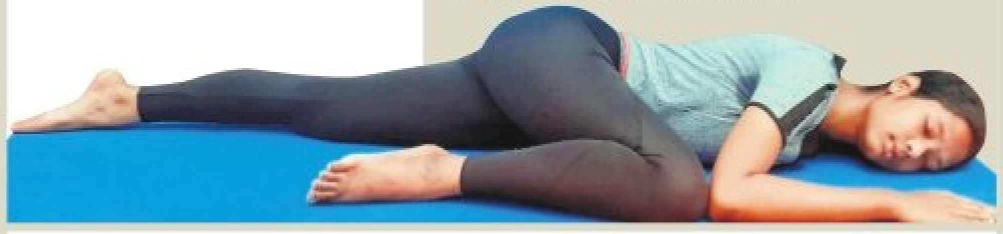
BENEFITS

- Imposes pressure on lower back, neck, knees and hips.
- The gentle pressure in the upper arms helps strengthen the biceps and triceps.
- Opens the psoas muscles, and helps open the hips.
- Creates space in the deeper connecting tissues, by releasing the accumulated tensions or strain.
- Ensures the range of motion of the shoulders and hips are maintained.
- Brings balance in the internal organs.
- Opens and tones shoulders, chest, thighs, and arms.
- Great practice for those who spend long hours at the desk, corrects badly aligned shoulders or hips.
- Calms and relaxes the nervous system.
- Stimulates stomach and spleen, improves digestion.
- Activates the Svadhisthana (Sacral) Chakra and Mooladhara (Root) Chakra.
- Stimulates the thyroid gland.

LIMITATIONS

People who have severe injury to the knees, elbow, arm, waist or back, recovering from a surgery, injury related to wear and tear of muscles, tissues or tendons, should avoid this.

Pregnant women should avoid this.



By N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

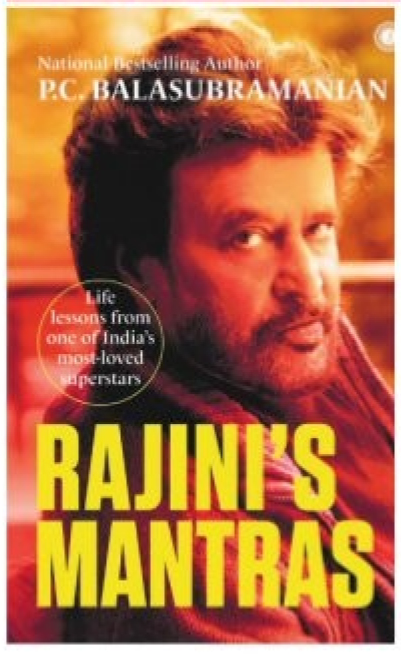
'MONEY & FAME HAD NOT CHANGED HIM'

TURNING PAGES



National Bestselling Author
P.C. BALASUBRAMANIAN
Life lessons from one of India's most-loved superstars
RAJINI'S MANTRAS

At the D40 event in the year 2011: "Naan Shivaji Raovaa irrukarathala thaan, Rajinikantha irruka mudiyarathu."

"Because I am Shivaji Rao, I am able to be Rajinikanth."

Rajinikanth responded spontaneously to a question from late K Balachandar. The event was to celebrate the contribution of south India's film directors to cinema. As a special programme, a brief chat between the film director late K Balachandar and superstar Rajinikanth was organised. KB sir, as he was called, mentioned that the set of questions were prepared only the previous night and that Rajinikanth was not even aware of such an interview. One of the questions the director asked Rajinikanth — a very good practical question — was, "Can Rajinikanth again become Shivaji Rao Gaekwad?" He wanted to know if Rajinikanth could go back to living the way he had before becoming an actor, an ordinary, common man Shivaji Rao, a bus conductor by profession. Without batting an eyelid Rajinikanth replied, "Because I am Shivaji Rao, I am able to be Rajinikanth." Rajinikanth stated that money and fame had not changed him personally and that he remains Shivaji Rao Gaekwad in his personal life. Only Rajinikanth could convey such a strong message in just about ten words and receive thunderous applause.

This same man couldn't manage this fame that chased him within two years of his entry into films. He even broke down and was about to get away from the film world forever, but thankfully recovered. Experience had taught the superstar to manage his stardom, fame and popularity. In 2020, in the 'Into the Wild with Bear Grylls' episode, when Bear Grylls asked him how he manages his fame and popularity at home, Rajinikanth mentioned that he forgets he is Rajinikanth at home. He clearly keeps his life as Rajinikanth separate from that of Shivaji Rao. What's the message from this leader? You and your profession/job are two different entities. Your professional success or even failure need not define the individual you are. Your fame, name and money need not change you as a person. You should be thankful for your success but it should not go to your head and make you arrogant. Never forget your roots and your true self. Rajinikanth has conveyed in different ways across various forums that as a person, he is still the same.

His requirements haven't grown exponentially in line with growth in his professional career as an actor. This is possible only for evolved and spiritual people. Don't we dread losing luxuries even for a short duration? Time and again, his colleagues have talked of how Rajinikanth has stayed in simple rooms and ordinary hotels without making demands associated with this profession or industry during film shooting. A leader sets examples for others to follow. As a leader, he also conveys through this reply that you should not forget your roots, your humble beginnings. We never know when we may have to go back to where we came from. We need to be humble despite success and clearly understand that a misplaced ego would tarnish our inner self. This amazing life lesson conveys the powerful message that being humble and simple in our daily life is indeed supreme.

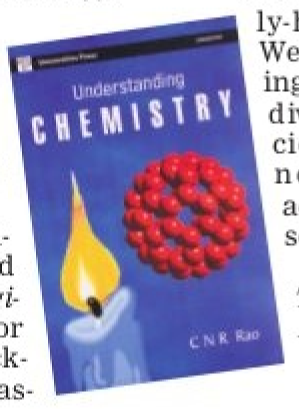
BOOKS ON SCIENCE FOR THE LAY PERSON

BETWEEN 1920 and 2020, the average human lifespan doubled, from approx. 35 years to 70 years. More than 100 million people died from the Great Influenza outbreak that circled the globe a century ago. In comparison, roughly six million have died from Covid-19, on a planet with four times as many people. In all these situations, science has played a huge role.

The word 'science', which comes from the Latin word scientia meaning 'knowledge', is a systematic enterprise that builds and organises knowledge in the form of testable explanations and predictions about the universe. We have grown up learning science broadly categorised as physics, chemistry and biology (mathematics is closely related but considered a separate category). I loved physics and hated chemistry and biology in equal measure. Over the years, though, I have started to develop a deeper appreciation of science with a broader understanding of the natural world.

An introduction to physics from the subject's greatest teacher is now captured in the book The Feynman Lectures on Physics. The legendary American physicist and Nobel Laureate Richard Feynman taught a two-year introductory course in physics in Caltech from 1961 to 1963. His famous lectures were not based on any textbooks, so they were sourced entirely from students who had written them down.



One of the first science books that I read like a novel was Longitude by Dava Sobel. For centuries, sailors, lacking the ability to measure longitude, had been literally all at sea. John Harrison was the 18th century genius who solved the problem. Sobel's book, which tells the story of Harrison's 40-year obsession with building his perfect timekeeper called the chronometer, is also a fascinating history of astronomy, navigation, and clockmaking.

The Origin of Species (1859) by Charles Darwin is considered the most important science book. Darwin challenged many of the most deeply-held beliefs of the Western world. Arguing for a material, not divine, origin of species, he showed that new species are achieved by 'natural selection'.

A Brief History of Time: From the Big Bang to Black Holes, a book on theoretical cosmology by Stephen Hawking, has sold more than 25 million copies but it is often considered the least read, most bought book ever! Hence I would recommend the illustrated version which is an easier read.

Lest I be accused of playing favourites, let me also recommend popular books on chemistry and biology: Understanding Chemistry by C N R Rao which is an elementary introduction to the subject, and the recent book of biologist and Nobel Laureate Paul Nurse called What Is Life? Nurse illuminates five ideas that underpin biology.

Gene Machine by Nobel Laureate 'Venki' Venkatraman Ramakrishnan is an engaging and witty memoir about his contributions to the discovery of the structure of the ribosome, and in doing so, he tells a story that highlights how science actually works.

Reinventing India captures the fascinating evolution of India's Science, Technology and Innovation (STI) landscape through some of Dr R A Mashelkar's most inspiring and insightful lectures and essays. I was fortunate to meet him and was drawn towards his optimism about India's future.

India lags behind other countries when it comes to research in basic science. We need more bright young minds to take an interest in research. Equally, we need to spark an interest in science among the general population. And none do this better than popular books on science.

THE GREAT TECH GAME

Panel discussion on India's strategy in the 'great tech game'

As technology has become a part and parcel of every aspect of our lives, including the economic and societal realms, it can sometimes be complicated to understand and accommodate these changes. Managing partner at India Internet Fund, Anirudh Suri, has attempted to understand this amalgamation of everyday life and technology in his book, The Great Tech Game: Shaping Geopolitics and the Destinies of Nations. In a panel discussion moderated by Irina Ghose, taking place at the Bangalore International Centre (BIC) in Domlur on Friday, July 15, at 6.30 pm, Suri will be in conversation with TV Mohandas Pai and Prashant Prakash about the approach India can adopt in the 'great tech game' for the distribution of power in the world, economic rivalries, and more.

SANJANA ANAND TO SHARE SCREEN SPACE WITH VIRAT IN DINAKAR'S ROMANTIC THRILLER

The shooting of the film, made under Jayanna Films banner, will begin in August

A SHARADHAA

Dinakar Thoogudeepa's next project bankrolled by Jayanna Films starring Virat was officially launched on Sunday. The project commenced with a simple muhurath, with Meena Thoogudeepa sounding the clapboard. Producers Jayanna and Bogendra, director Dinakar, and actor Viraat among others were in attendance.

"We are Overwhelmed to present our next vision Production 23 to be directed by me and produced by Jayanna Films' Jayanna and Bhogendra Sir," tweeted Dinakar on his social media platform. The director, who has come with a youthful commercial entertainer with thriller elements, has roped in Salaga actor Sanjana Anand to play the female lead and it was officially confirmed by the production house. This will be the first time Virat and Sanjana will be sharing screen space. The latter, who is currently busy with her maiden Telugu project, will begin shooting for the film in August.

Virat also has AP Arjun's Addhuri Lover, which is currently on floors.

Dheeren Ramkumar's debut Shiva 143 gets a release date

Dheeren Ramkumar

Manvitha Kamath

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Dheeren Ramkumar's much-awaited debut Shiva 143 has finally get a release date. The film directed by Anil Kumar also starring Manvitha Kamath faced a lot of setbacks owing to the pandemic. But, now it will now be hitting the theatres on August 26. An official announcement of the release date was made on Tuesday. Dheeren is yet another actor coming from the Rajkumar clan, his maiden venture will be an action romantic drama, made under the banner of Jayanna Films.

Shiva 143 is reportedly an adaptation of Telugu hit cinema, RX 100, and the steamy posters of the Kannada film featuring the lead actors, have created a buzz about its content. The film produced by Jayanna and Bhogendra also has Sadhu Kokila playing a pivotal character and Arjun Janya composing the music.

Indian Matchmaking to return on this date

CE FEATURES

THE second season of Netflix's Indian Matchmaking will drop on August 10.

Making the announcement, Sima Taparia, the Mumbai-based matchmaker, posted some photos from the season on her Instagram account. In one of the pictures, we can see Aparna Shewakramani, the groom-seeker who became popular in season 1.

Indian Matchmaking revolves around Sima Taparia, a Mumbai-based matchmaker, who travels around the world to help people, mostly NRIs and the privileged, find their soulmates.

Maya Rudolph's Loot renewed for season 2

CE FEATURES

APPLE TV + has announced the renewal of its comedy series Loot for the second season.

Featuring Maya Rudolph, the series is produced by Universal Television, a division of Universal Studio Group. Loot is created, written and executive produced by Yang and Hubbard.

According to the streaming platform, the synopsis reads, "Billionaire Molly Novak (Rudolph) has a dream life, complete with private jets, a sprawling mansion and a Giga yacht — anything her heart desires. But when her husband of 20 years betrays her, she spirals publicly, becoming fuel for tabloid fodder. She's reaching rock bottom when she learns, to her surprise, that she has a charity foundation run by the no-nonsense Sofia Salinas (Rodriguez), who pleads with Molly to stop generating bad press. With her devoted assistant Nicholas (Kim Booster) by her side, and with the help of Sofia and the team — including mild-mannered accountant Arthur (Faxon) and her optimistic, pop-culture-loving cousin Howard (Funches) — Molly embarks on a journey of self-discovery. Giving back to others might be what she needs to get back to herself."

Only Murders in the Building renewed for Season 3

CE FEATURES

MYSTERY comedy Only Murders in the Building will return for a third season and the announcement was made by the streaming platform Hulu.

The announcement comes just weeks after season two of the show premiered. The plot follows three strangers played by Steve Martin, Martin Short, and Selena Gomez, who share an obsession for true crime podcasts. After a suspicious death in their rich Upper West Side apartment building, the Arconia, the three neighbours decide to start their own podcast about their investigation of the death, which the police declared a suicide.

The series comes from co-creators and writers Steve Martin and John Hoffman. Martin and Hoffman are executive producers of the series along with Short, Gomez, This Is Us creator Dan Fogelman and Jess Rosenthal.

The series can also be caught on Disney+Hotstar platform.

RELIGION NEEDS TO REFORM ITSELF: SONA MOHAPATRA

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

SONA Mohapatra is a booming, robust voice both in her songs and in her opinions. The 46-year-old singer started her musical journey with the album SONA and songs like 'Bolo Na', 'Aja Ve', 'Abhi Nahi Ana' among others. She went on to sing chartbusters like 'Bedardi Raja' from the film Delhi Belly (2011), 'Ambarsariya' from Fukrey (2013) and 'Qatl-E-Aam' from Raman Raghav 2.0 (2016).

Her documentary Shut up Sona, which recently started streaming on ZEE5, gives a candid look at the singer striving to make her space and voice her opinions in a male-dominated world. The documentary, directed by Deepti Gupta, won the National Film Award for Best Editing in the Non-Feature category. We talked to Sona about how she decided to make the documentary, sexism in the music industry, freedom of speech in the country and how religion needs reform.

Even female singers in the mainstream are way less than male singers...

I sang a song called 'Soch' for the Akshay Kumar-starrer Airlift. I got the song after the success of 'Naina' from Khoobsurat. But I was removed from 'Soch' and Arijit Singh was made to sing it. I don't blame Arijit for it but I am sure Akshay or the producers had a hand in it. It might be because the makers decided to picture the song on Akshay and only Arijit's voice could be used.

In the documentary you have shown that Sufi organizations filed an FIR against you for singing and featuring in a Sufi song while wearing 'revealing' clothes. In today's time when fact-checker Mohammed Zubair is being arrested for tweeting a meme or the backlash against BJP's Nupur Sharma's comments against the Prophet, what is your take on Freedom of Speech in the country?

I feel religion needs to reform itself. You may not like somebody speaking up. You can express hurt or disappointment in different ways but to give threats and to say that we are enraged enough to kill or shoot you is not acceptable. Islam needs to relook in terms of its reform. The time is now. They need to stop being offended and be a victim all the time.

You have talked about South Indian films taking over Hindi films...

I should say this, the films in the South are more 'Indian'. Bollywood on the other hand seems to have lost its love for Indian aesthetics. But when we say that the Hindi film industry is nepotistic and has been accused of giving opportunities to just six families, it should also be underlined that caste runs deep in the South Indian film industry. I know about the Telugu industry and even film distributors there will be Kammas and Reddys and so on. In today's day and age it is very disturbing.
